

GLACIER COLLECTION

Each rug in the Glacier Collection is one of a kind. The delicate soumak weave is meticulously woven by hand, which can be prone to skewing. This time-honored practice is admired for its workmanship and unique qualities. The wool yarns have different hues and are woven together, producing a beautiful variation in color. These unique striations are embraced and cherished as they undoubtedly display the beauty of hand-crafted floor covering.

This gorgeous hand knotted wool is crafted by at least four individual weavers, each weaving a specific area of the roll, making it truly extraordinary. With the Glacier Collection using natural yarns, it is considered normal for there to be variation in the weave and color throughout the roll.

Glacier is not suitable or recommended for broadloom installation when seaming is needed.

We hope you join us in celebrating the ownership of luxurious, hand-crafted rugs.
