HANNON

THE HANNON SKIN CARE STORY

Travelling and working intimately with women across the globe, Hannon Bothma became aware of how a difference in climate and lifestyle can affect the skin and the speed with which humans show signs of ageing.

CLIMATE: South Africa is rather unique as climates completely differ between the different regions. Most of South Africa has an exceptionally dry atmosphere that can suddenly change to high humidity. One's skin can feel dry and tight the one moment and suddenly become oily and shiny on the same day. In some areas people can never get enough moisture, so they will apply a rich moisturiser in the morning, but a few hours later their skin is dry and feels tight and sensitive once again.

WATER: The water with which we cleanse our bodies is often a direct cause of skin conditions. An increase in the impurities of our water is a major skincare concern. In some areas the calcium and sodium content of available water is so high, that surfactants such as soaps and facial washes, cannot lather properly and therefore cannot cleanse properly.

LIFESTYLE: Most people in South Africa work very long hours where they are exposed to artificial ventilation such as air-conditioning and indoor heating. With one of the best climates in the world, we are very much an outdoor nation that enjoys sport and a variety of outdoor activities from a very young age. South Africa and Australia are the two countries with the highest count in UV-radiation and as a result, skin cancer.

Hannon's personal quest in looking for answers and remedies to fight the visible signs of premature ageing led him to seek guidance from the cosmeceutical and pharmaceutical departments of Potchefstroom University. They had knowledge about a revolutionary new ingredient, MOIST 24 that proved amazing results through clinical studies and tests. For some time the Professor in charge was waiting patiently for someone to the likes of Hannon to come along and join him in the development of a skin care range, containing MOIST 24, used to actively fight the signs of ageing. Hannon identified several professional beauty specialists from a variety of regions in South Africa for them to try and to also test these laboratory samples on themselves as well as their clients. For 11 years these formulations were constantly tried and reformulated, tested and retested. Finally these formulations carried the stamp of approval from all our beauty experts and Hannon himself.

Once again HANNON is bringing you a range of products developed with you in mind. The HANNON SKIN CARE RANGE is a truly South African range for the unique South-African climate.

HANNON SKIN CARE with MOIST 24

Battling the signs of ageing.

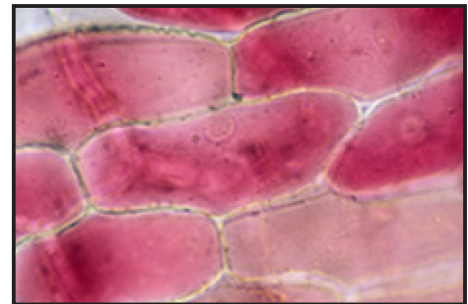

Our skin is the biggest proof of the ageing process. With age, it becomes thinner and starts losing its fullness, to mention just a few. Wrinkles and sagging skin is a direct result. The destiny of each individual's ageing process is determined by 3 main factors: Hereditary factors, hormonal factors, and environmental factors. As modern human beings we are on a constant quest for solutions to counteract the effects caused by all three these ageing factors. MOIST 24, is the latest patented ingredient today used in the HANNON SKIN CARE RANGE to actively fight and reverse the signs of ageing.

MOIST 24

MOIST 24 is a potassium rich extract derived from the root of the plant Imperata Cylindrica that originates from South-Africa, Asia and Australia. MOIST 24 is the ultimate moisturising ingredient that keeps the skin plumped at maximum moisture level for up to 24 hours after application. It stays active in your cells even after you've washed or cleansed your skin to maintain this youthful plumpness. Clinical tests have proved that after only 7 hours after its first application, the hydration level of the skin has improved by an unbelievable 50%. Results are almost instant. After the skin was properly washed it was still 20% more hydrated than at the beginning of the test. This test showed clearly that MOIST 24 will keep fighting the effects of ageing skin even after being removed. The question is: Might the discovery of MOIST 24 bring us a little bit closer to the discovery to the fountain of youth? Maybe.

How does MOIST 24 work?

Our skin cells are filled with a gel-like substance called cytoplasm. Let's call this the "youth juice". Cytoplasm gives the cell a plump-like appearance, is essential for cell division and the synthesis of collagen fibers that connects all the cells. As we age our "youth juice" becomes less. Skin cells start losing its fullness and become deflated like a balloon, for example. When this happens, cell division slows down and when a skin cell dies, it is not replaced. Collagen fibers also start to disintegrate. The result is loose and sagging skin. The moment that MOIST 24 with its rich concentration of potassium is absorbed through the epidermis, it results in the instant production of cytoplasm or "youth juice" that once again plumps up the skin cells. With a higher concentration of "youth juice", healthy cell division can start taking place again. The majority of the cells in the dermis are called fibroblasts. These fibroblasts secrete a substance that becomes collagen. Once collagen synthesis is stimulated, the skin regains a firmer, plump and youthful appearance and in effect helps to reverse the visible signs of ageing.

SKIN DELIVERY SYSTEM

Why is the HANNON SKIN CARE range effective?

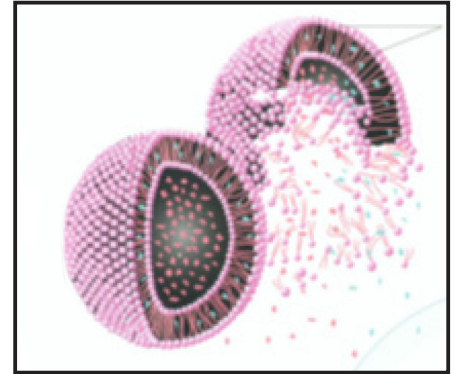

The active ingredients in the HANNON Skin Care range have been encapsulated into tiny microscopic pockets called Liposomes. This technology is called Double-layered Capsulation Technology. It improves the penetration of the active ingredients into the skin with a much higher absorption rate.

These tiny pockets attach themselves to the weak skin cells and release the active ingredients directly into these skin cells.

Liposomes thus act as tiny rockets that target weak cells and release active ingredients to the very heart of the weak skin cells.

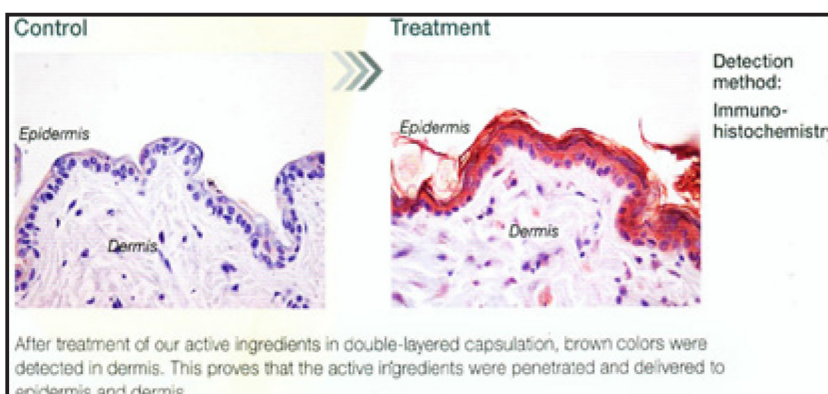

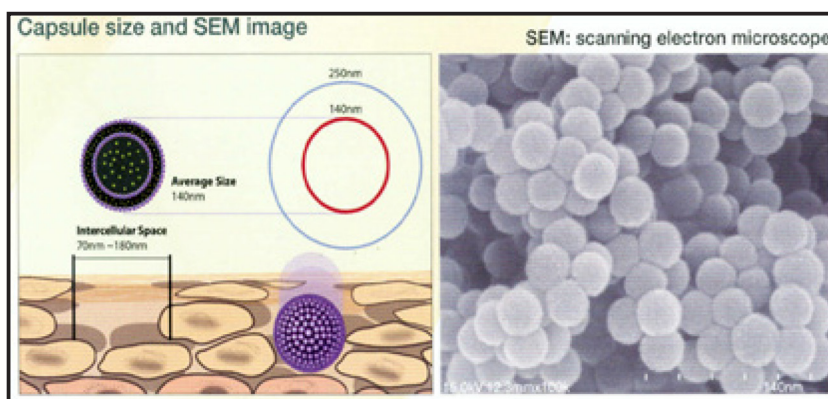

Liposomes are also known as a drug carrier that allows the easy absorption of the drug molecule into the epidermis and the dermis layers of the skin. Liposome technology (where tiny cell pockets are filled with active drugs) were originally used in the treatment of cancer, ensuring that the cancer cells are targeted more effectively.

Advantages of Double-layered Capsulation.

- Increased production of cytoplasm or “youth juice” that plumps up the skin cells with a lifting effect and leaving skin smoother.
- Promotes collagen production to improve skin elasticity
- Improves water retention, keeping skin hydrated
- Controls oil secretion of the sebaceous glands with an Oily Skin Type.
- Targets Melanosomes more effectively
- Promotes healthy cell division to improve skin texture

SUNSCREEN INFORMATION

What is SPF?

SPF – or Sun Protection Factor – is a measure of a sunscreen’s ability to prevent UVB from damaging the skin. Here’s how it works: If it takes 20 minutes for your unprotected skin to start turning red, using an SPF 15 sunscreen theoretically prevents reddening 15 times longer – about five hours. Most sunscreens with an SPF of 15 or higher do an excellent job of protecting against UVB.

What are UVA and UVB?

Ultraviolet (UV) radiation is part of the electromagnetic (light) spectrum that reaches the earth from the sun. It has wavelengths shorter than visible light, making it invisible to the naked eye. Ultraviolet A (UVA) is the longer wave UV ray that causes lasting skin damage, skin aging, and can cause skin cancer. Ultraviolet B (UVB) is the shorter wave UV ray that causes sunburn, skin damage, and can cause skin cancer.

Sunscreens are products combining several ingredients that help prevent the sun’s ultraviolet (UV) radiation from reaching the skin. Two types of ultraviolet radiation, UVA and UVB, damage the skin, age it prematurely, and increase your risk of skin cancer.

UVB is the chief culprit behind sunburn, while UVA rays, which penetrate the skin more deeply, are associated with wrinkling, leathery skin, sagging, and other light-induced effects of aging (photo-aging). They also exacerbate the carcinogenic effects of UVB rays, and increasingly are being seen as a cause of skin cancer on their own. Sunscreens vary in their ability to protect against UVA and UVB.

Most sunscreens with an SPF of 15 or higher do an excellent job of protecting against UVB. SPF – or Sun Protection Factor – is a measure of a sunscreen’s ability to prevent UVB from damaging the skin. Here’s how it works: If it takes 20 minutes for your unprotected skin to start turning red, using an SPF 15 sunscreen theoretically prevents reddening 15 times longer – about five hours.

Another way to look at it is in terms of percentages: SPF 15 filters out approximately 93 percent of all incoming UVB rays. SPF 30 keeps out 97 percent and SPF 50 keeps out 98 percent. They may seem like negligible differences, but if you are light-sensitive, or have a history of skin cancer, those extra percentages will make a difference. And as you can see, no sunscreen can block all UV rays.
