Big bit flattens slabs quickly

2" Mega Dado and Planer Bit, no. 52-506, $90

I love to build projects from natural-edge slabs, and, typically, the first task of prepping a slab is flattening it with a router jig. Infinity's Mega Dado and Planer Bit excels in this role for several reasons. First, its 2" diameter cuts a big swath across the wood, requiring fewer passes. Next, its sharp carbide edges cut cleanly without tear-out, leaving only moderate sanding to smooth the slab. And third, it's much quieter than even smaller-diameter bits I've used.
