A NOTE TO OUR CAPTAINS

(That's you, Mom and Dad!)

Dear Parents,

Have you discovered the riches of reading books aloud as a family, to toddlers and teens and all ages between?

"People would stand in line for days and pay hundreds of dollars if there were a pill that could do everything for a child that reading aloud does," writes Jim Trelease in The Read-Aloud Handbook. Wall Street Journal book critic Meghan Cox Gurdon writes in The Enchanted Hour, "Optimal patterns of brain development! Strong parent-child relationships! Skills that last a lifetime! If reading aloud were a pill, every child in the country would get a prescription. Instead, we're giving them screens." And Sarah Mackenzie of The Read-Aloud Family has ignited a revolution to make reading aloud a cornerstone of American family life. She quotes, "If you want a child to know the truth, tell him the truth. If you want a child to love the truth, tell him a story."

Storyglory Kids believes reading aloud is practically guaranteed to revive family connections, combat today's culture slide, and impart truth like no other medium can (not to mention turbocharge academic success). This spring, we aim to point children in the direction of God's riches through good books, and we encourage families to read those books aloud together. We've curated treasures on the following pages that can fuel this bonding activity in your home, and we hope you'll pick some up, grab a bowl of popcorn, and set sail for literary adventures. Storyglory awaits!

Sincerely,

Lucy Gundersen
Founder, Storyglory Kids

"Schoolwork, sports, friends, part-time jobs, and the hydra-headed temptations of technology will try to crowd out regular reading. Don't let it. This is a battle worth winning."
