

Coda Classic Prosecco

Vigna Sancol Wines, Valdobbiadene, Italy

The Wine:

100% Glera grapes, all Estate grown, all from 2019, mostly from the Valdobbiadene region of Northeast Italy. This tiny DOCG area has risen to the pinnacle of Prosecco production in Italy producing sparkling wines of extremely high quality. Fermented and aged in all stainless steel using only hand harvested fruit, this brut bottling has less than 9 grams per liter fruit sugars remaining after fermentation. Total production 2,500 cases.

The Estate:

Vigna Sancol winery is owned by Cesare de Stefani who produces less than 9,000 cases per year in total. The Vineyards are all within the DOCG of Valdobbiadene - Conegliano, an area halfway between the Alps and the Adriatic Sea. This hilly region has become known to produce Italy's very best sparkling wines. The vineyards are all grown without pesticides or herbicides and because of the steep terrain the grapes are all hand harvested.

Tasting Notes:

Color: Light straw gold

Aromas: Peach, white flowers, chalk and honey

Flavor & Texture: White peaches, ripe citrus, and stone fruit with delicate, tiny bubbles and a lifted, bright style

Food Pairing: Classic brunch faire

-Drink Now Through 2025-