Dedicated to my loving family and husband,
my very own superheroes.

'Good morning children! Today is a very special day,
We have a new student from a land far far away.'

'His name is BLEAGH! It rhymes with EAGH!
The children tried to say his name aloud.'

But BLEAGH scowled, shook his head.
So they tried again and made BLEAGH proud!

You can call me B
for short

BLEAGHHH!

'Now try to remember how it felt being new and shy.
Please make him feel welcome, give it your very best try!'

So Ren, Chloe and Arun brought B outside.
Poor B was feeling so homesick, he could have cried.

All these new faces and strange languages being spoken,
He so wished in his own bed he could have awoken.

The children sensed his sadness and began to empathise
(That is, feeling what someone else is feeling
And seeing things through their eyes).
