

Get ready for a math feast with Traga-BYÖDÖs!

In this game, it's not about thinking too much—it's all about having a big appetite.

Every tile you "eat" will help you build a taller tower than your rivals.

Ready to gobble up some tiles?
Let's eat!

Who can play?

Perfect for groups of 2 to 6 players with a healthy math appetite. Let's see who can 'munch' the most BYÖDÖs without getting caught up in the numbers!

🍜 LET'S EAT! 🍜

🌟 How to play 🌟
(and gobble up all the tiles)

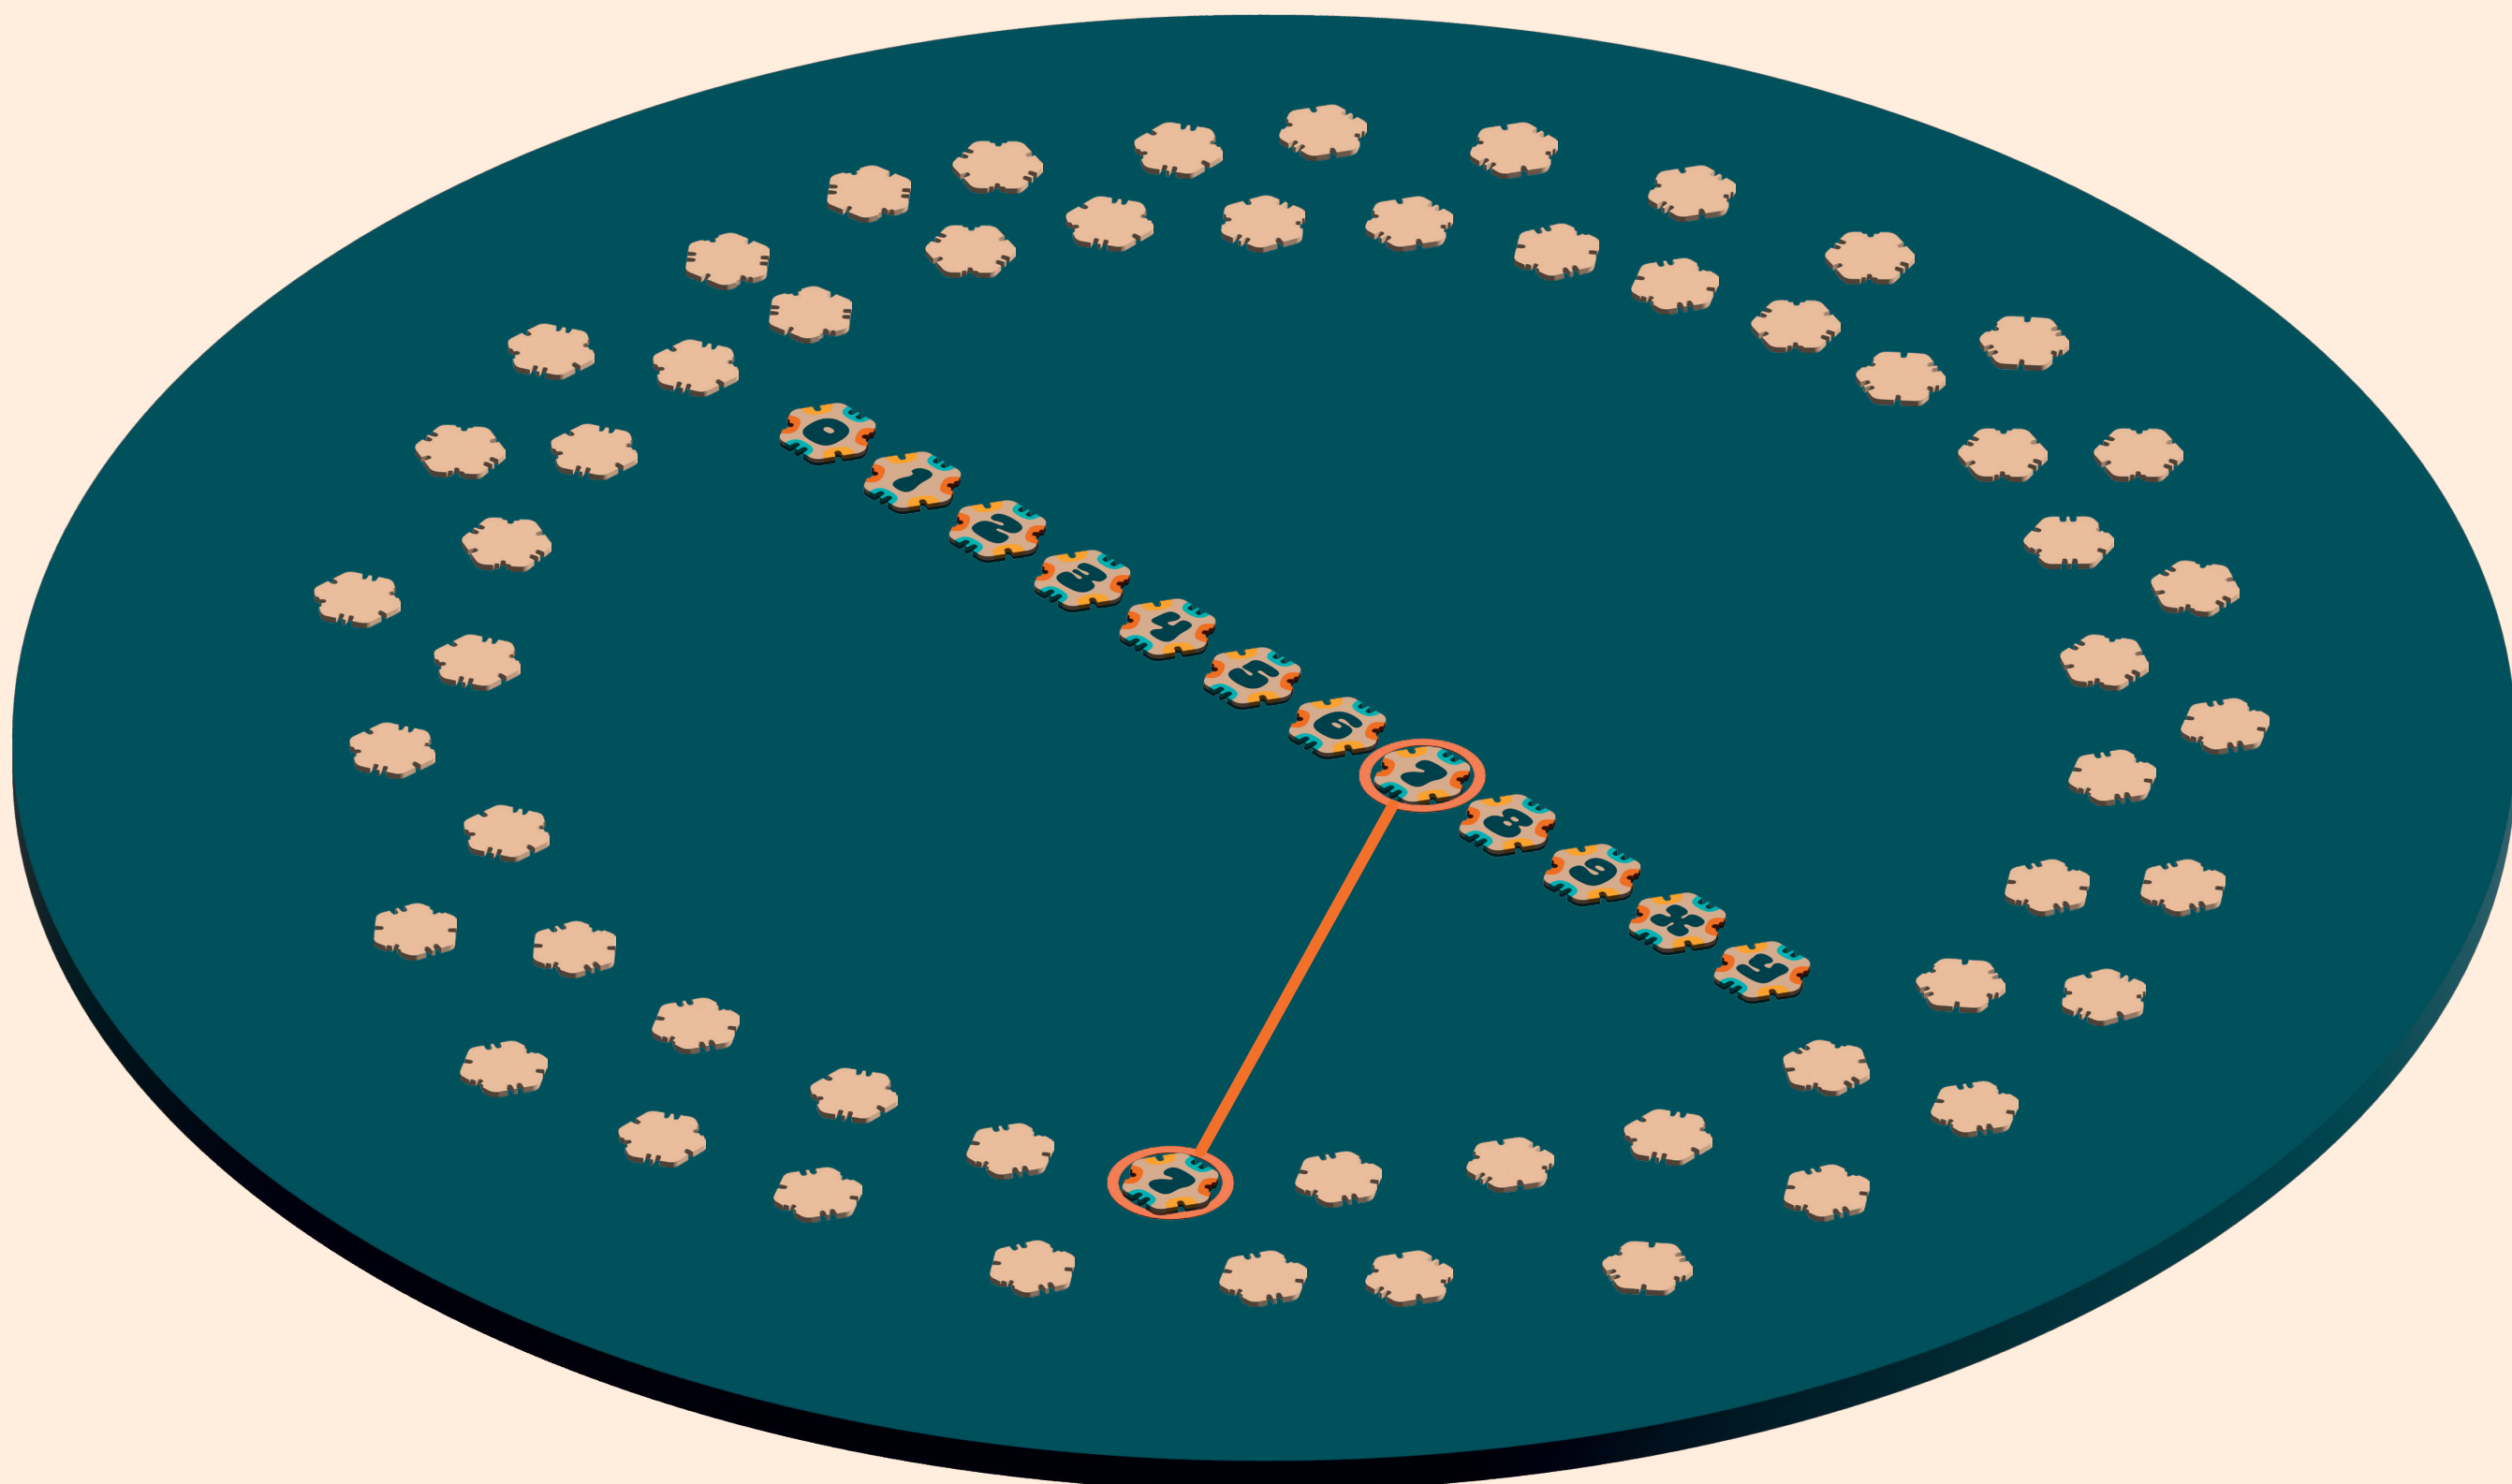

1. SETUP:
- Place a row in the center of the table with the tiles numbered from 0 to 9 and the X and Y tiles.
  - The rest of the tiles are placed face down around the central row. The buffet of tiles is ready for you to start eating!

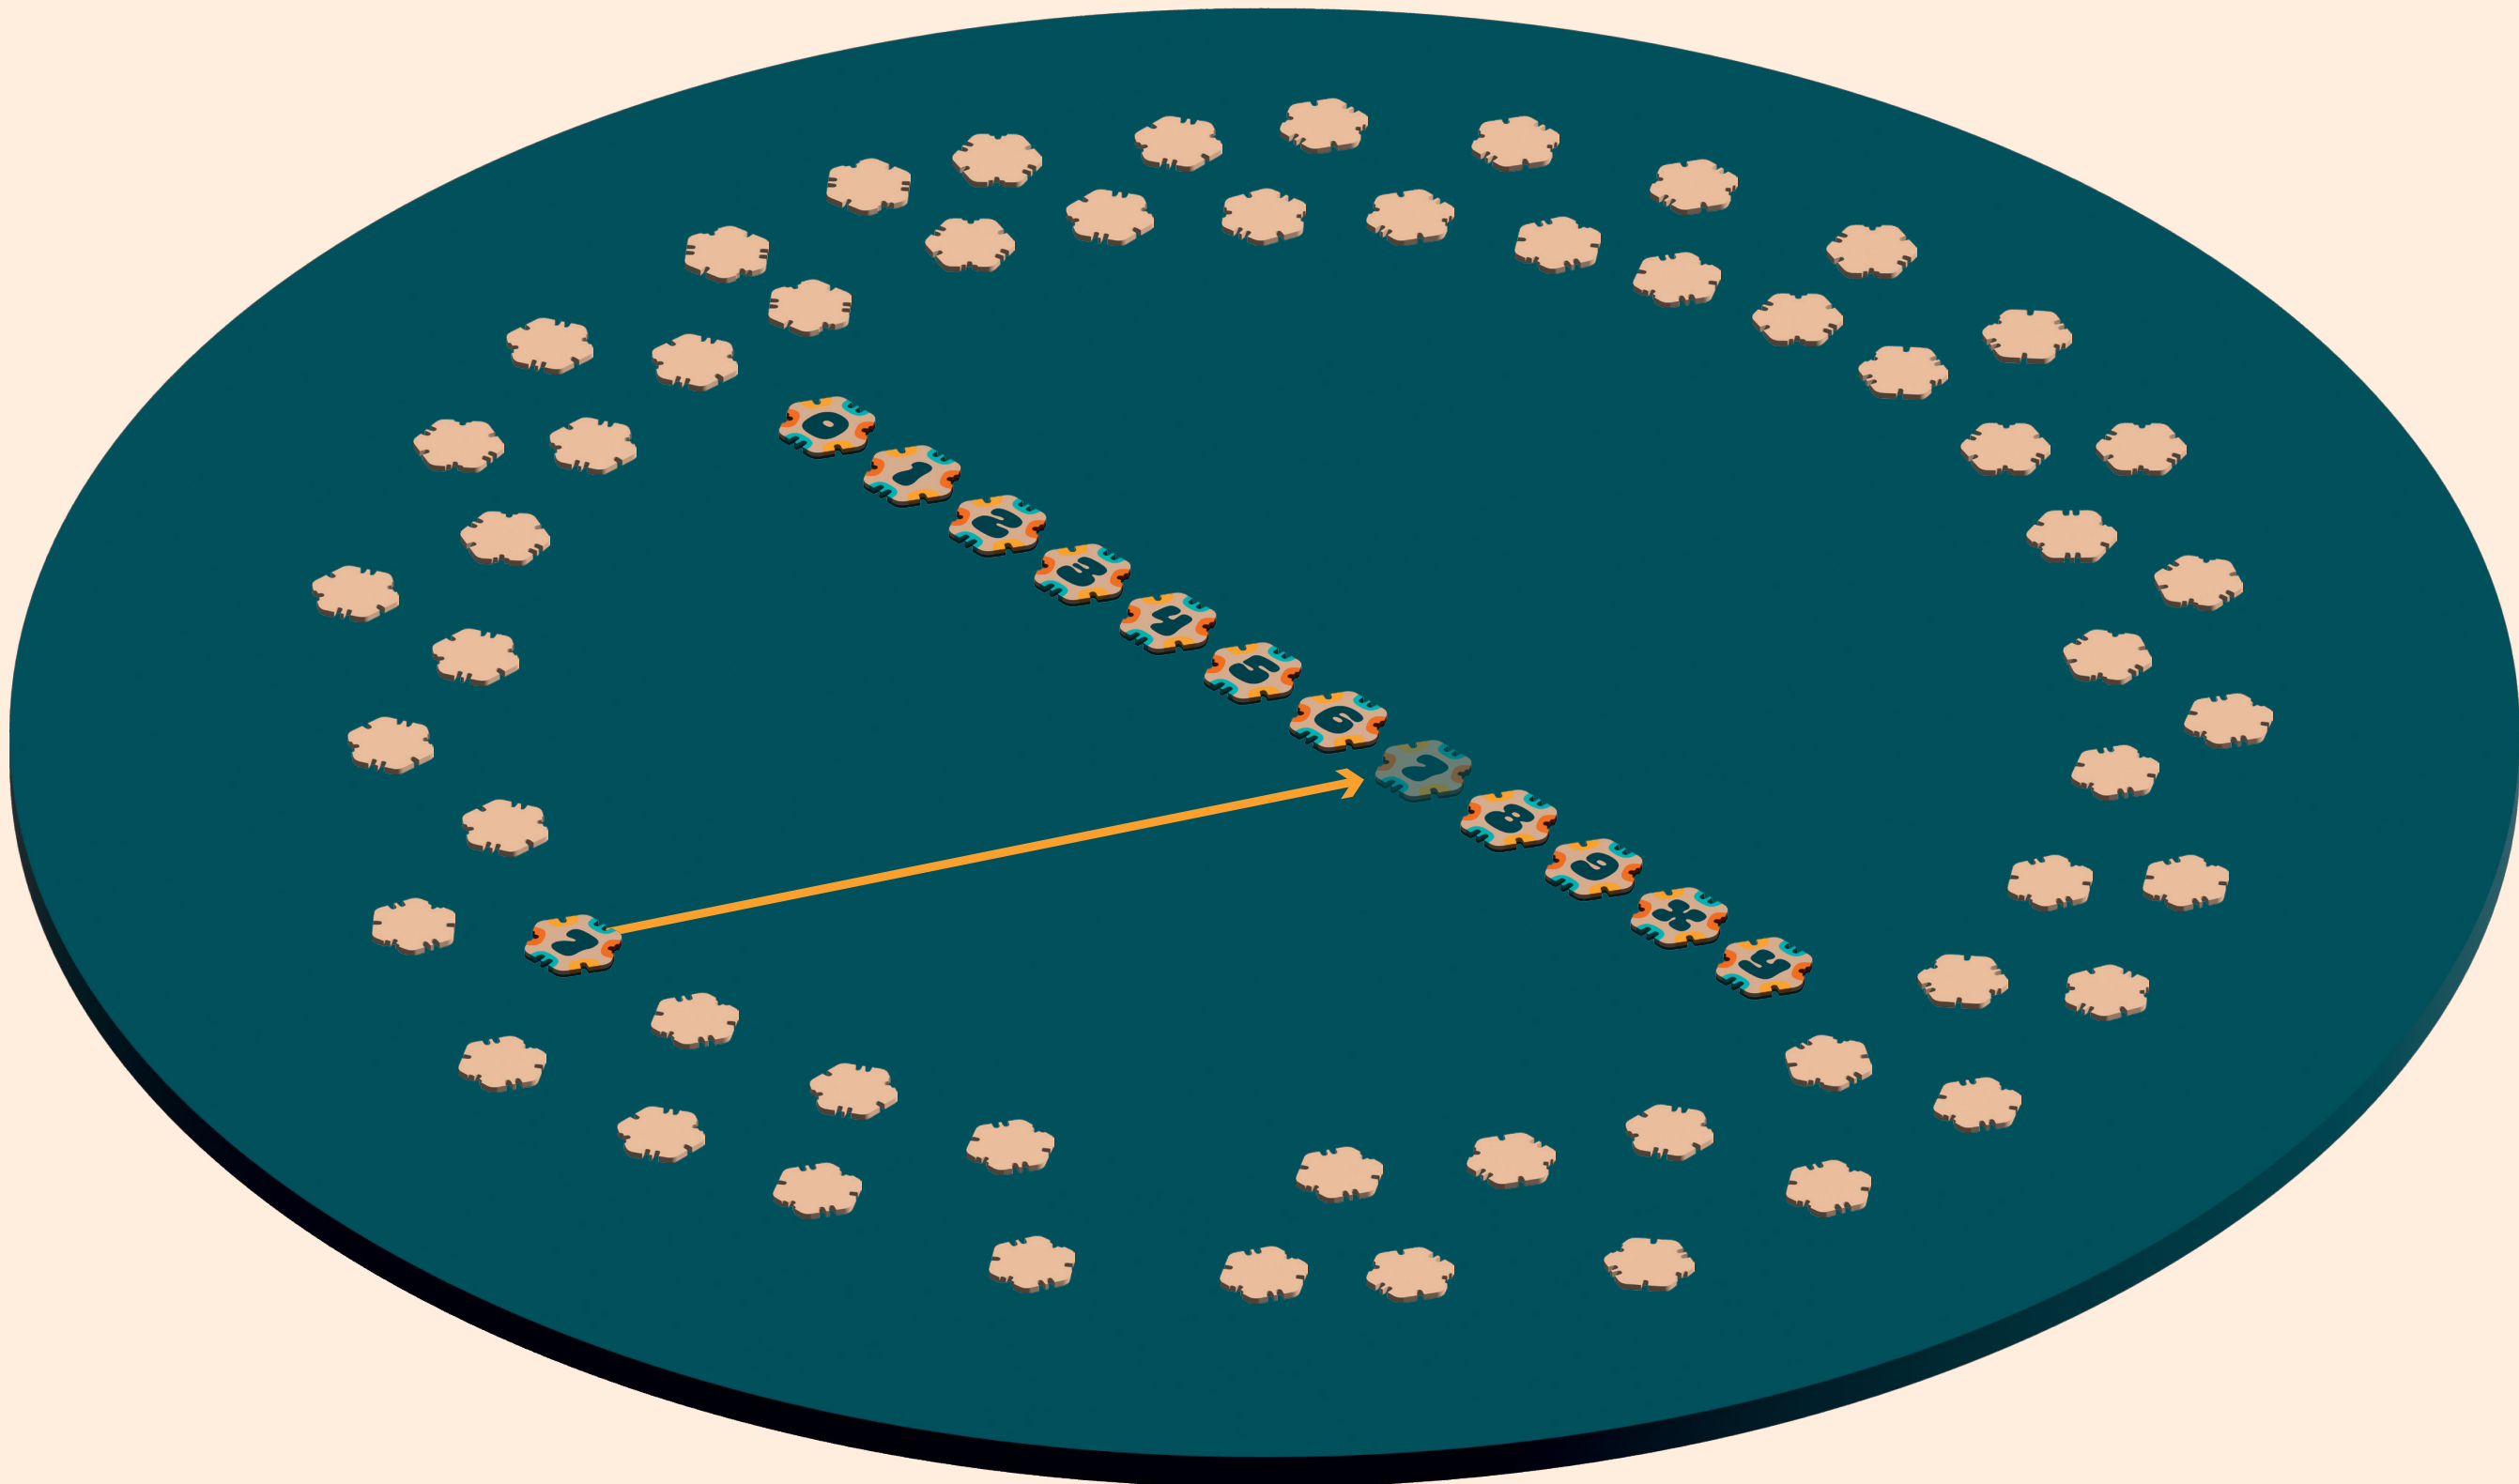

2. THE OBJECTIVE:
- The game is simple: on each turn, a player picks one of the face-down tiles and flips it over.

- If the number on the tile matches one in the center row, you "eat" it! You take both tiles (the one you flipped and the one from the center) and add them to your tower of points.

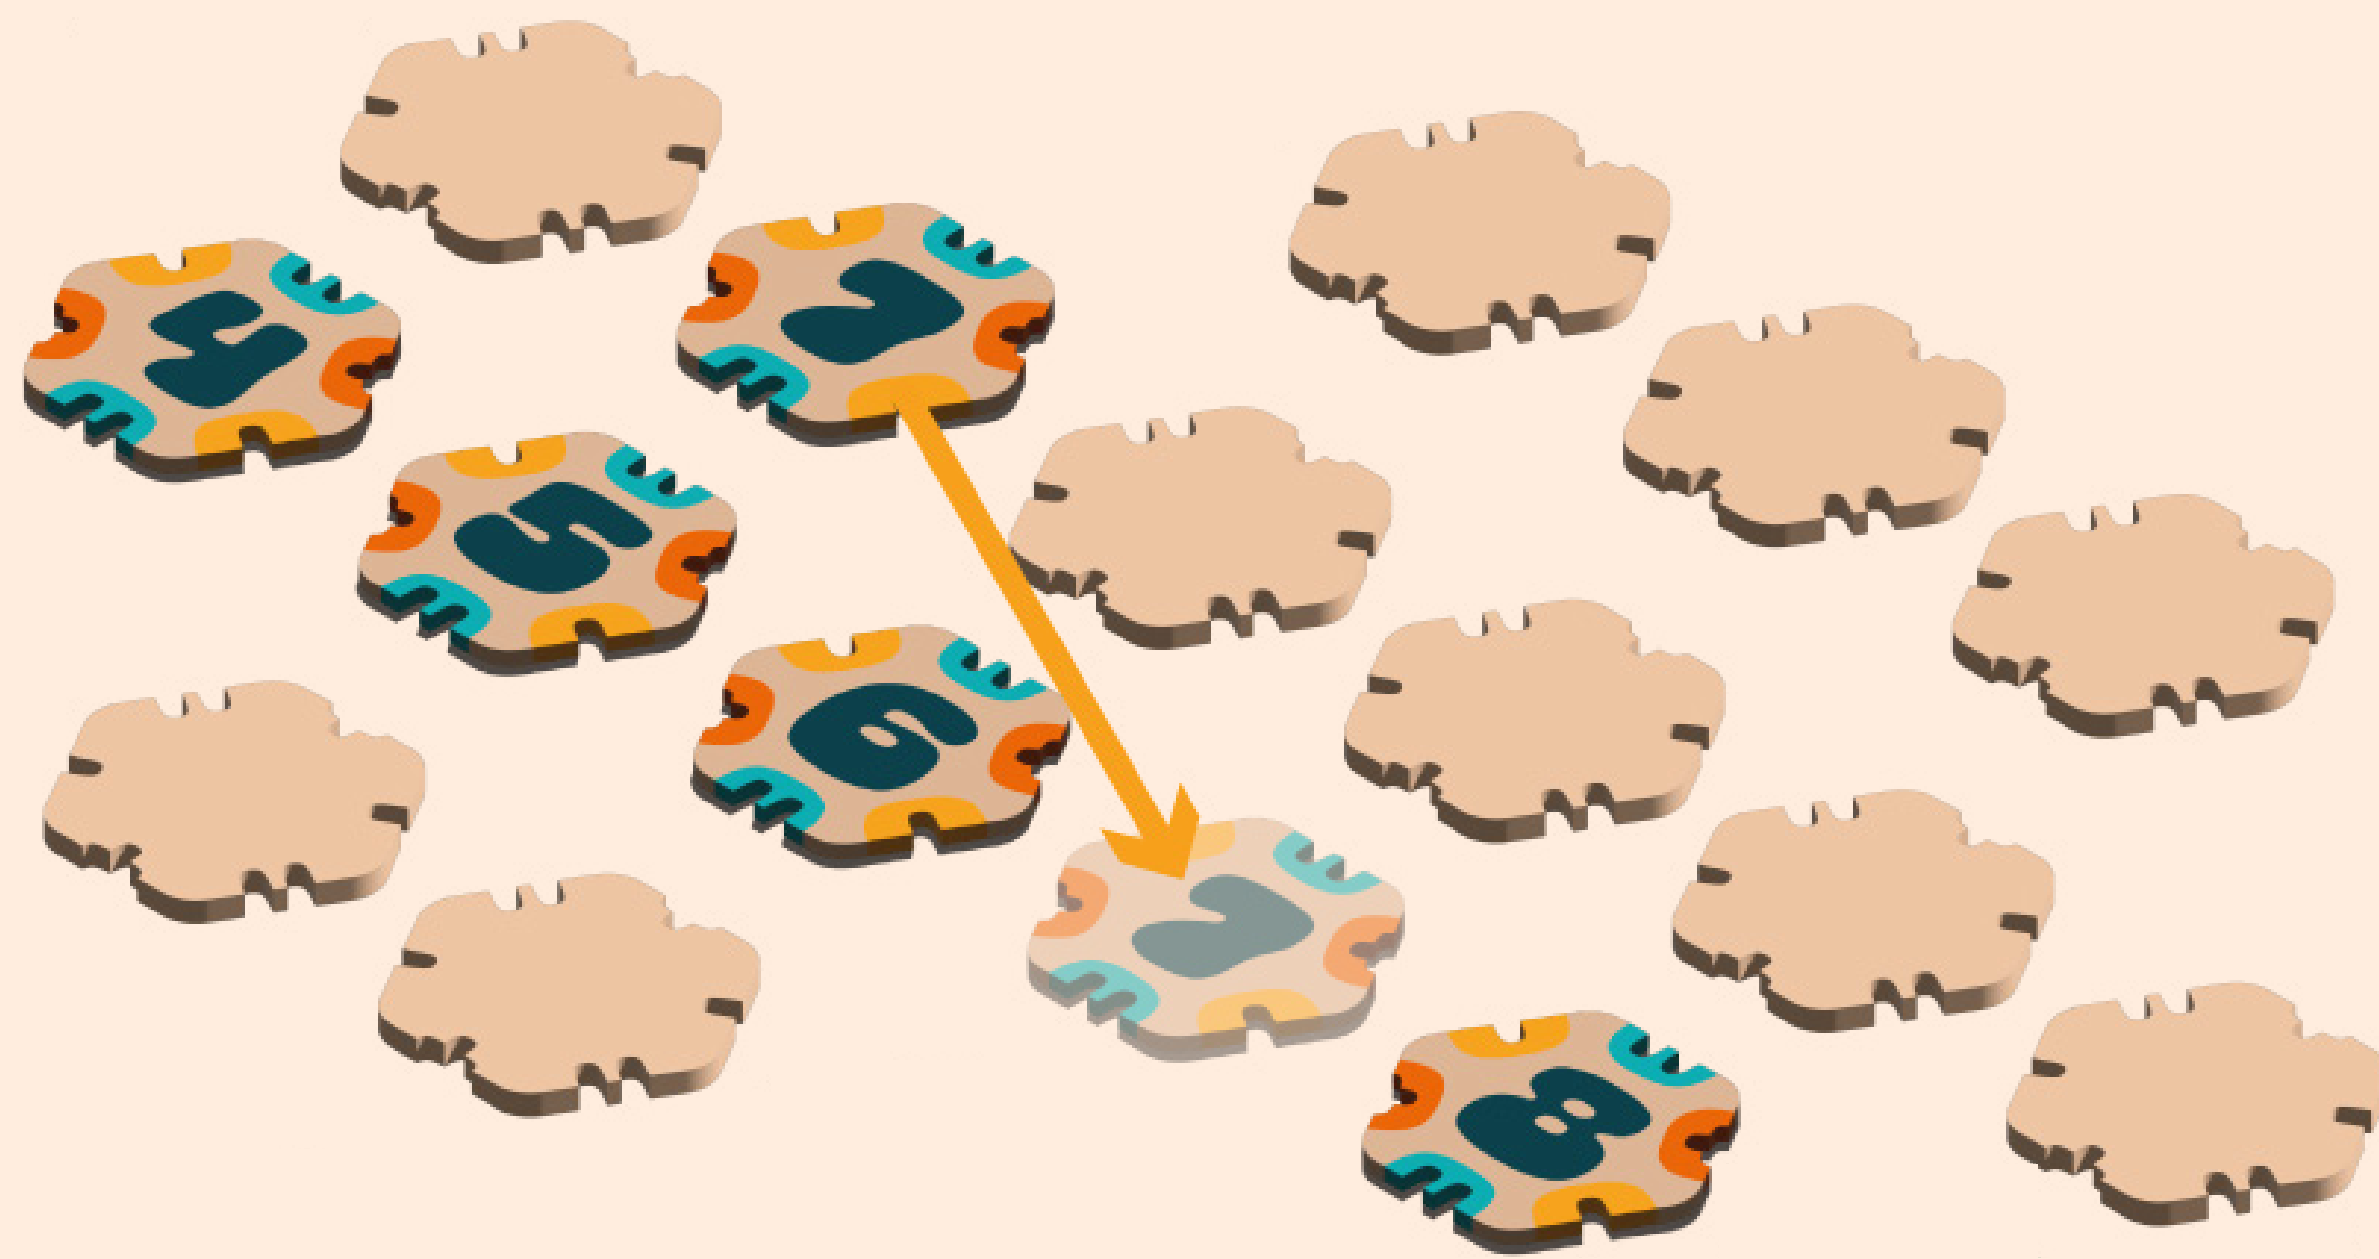

- If it doesn't match any tile in the center, you must place the tile in its corresponding spot in the central row (following the order from 0 to 9, or X and Y).

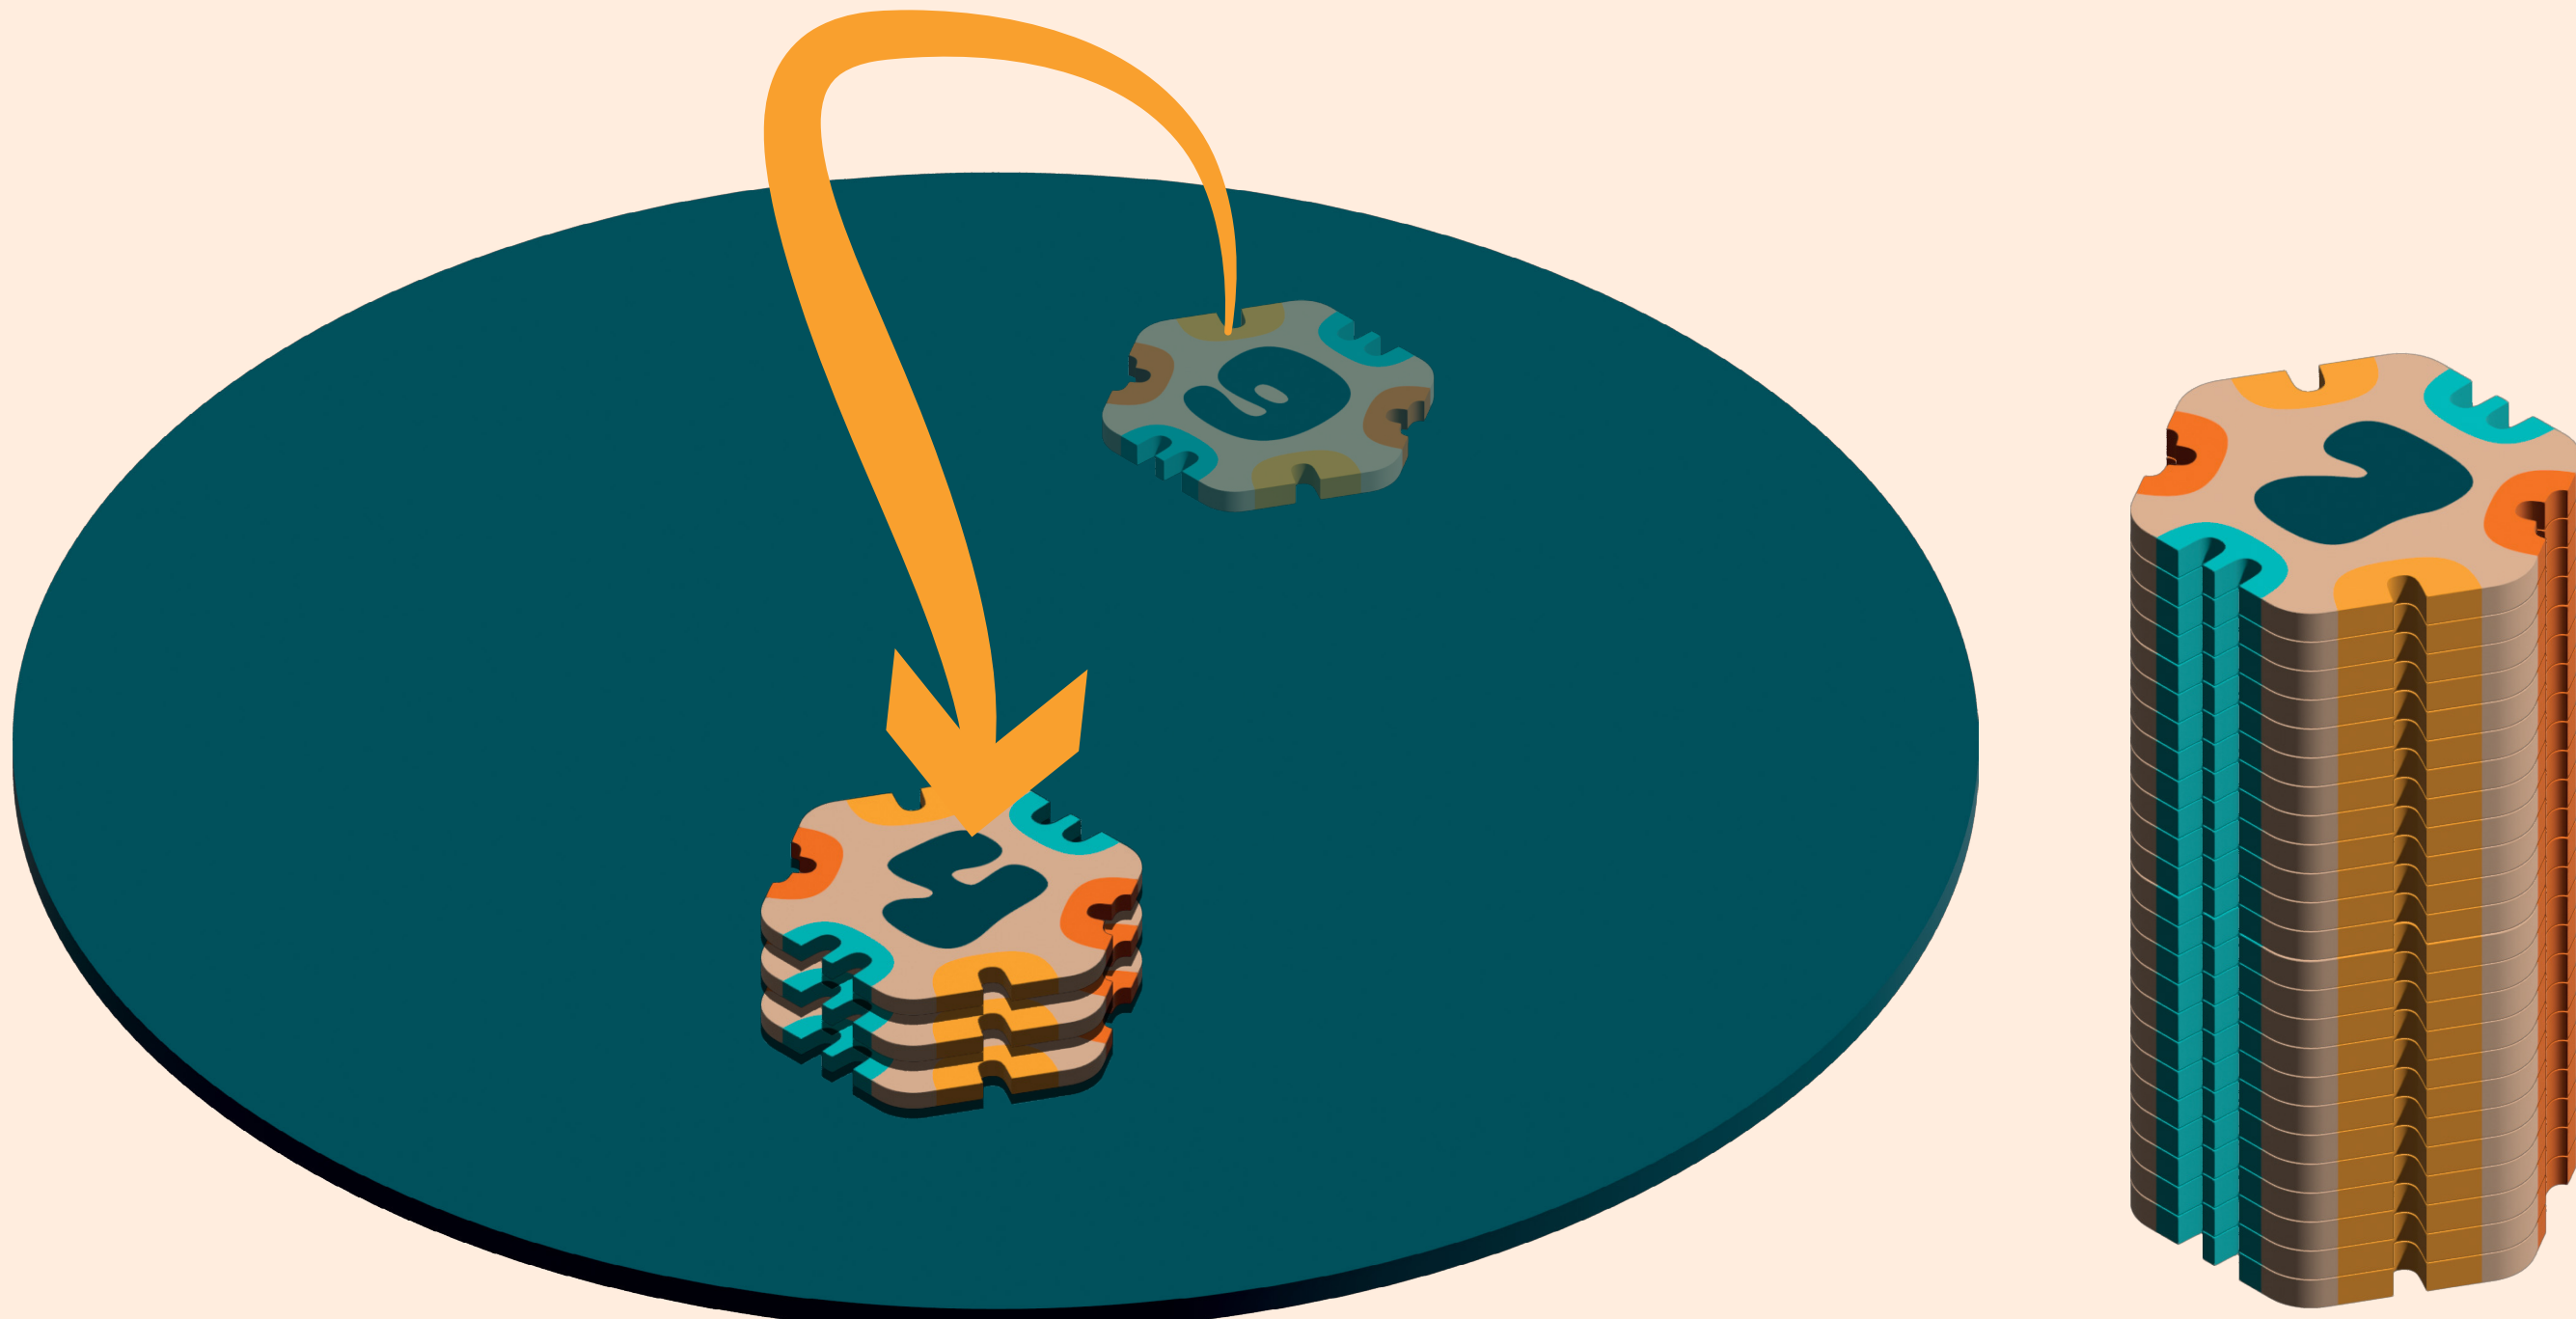

😊 Turns and tile feast 😊

- 1 Pick a tile:
Each player picks a face-down tile, and if they can, they "eat" it along with its match from the center row.
- 2 Place the tile if you can't eat it:
If there's no matching tile in the center, the player must place the tile in its correct spot in the row. Looks like you'll have to wait for your next meal!

- 3 Build your tower:
The tiles you "eat" are added to your tower, which represents your points.

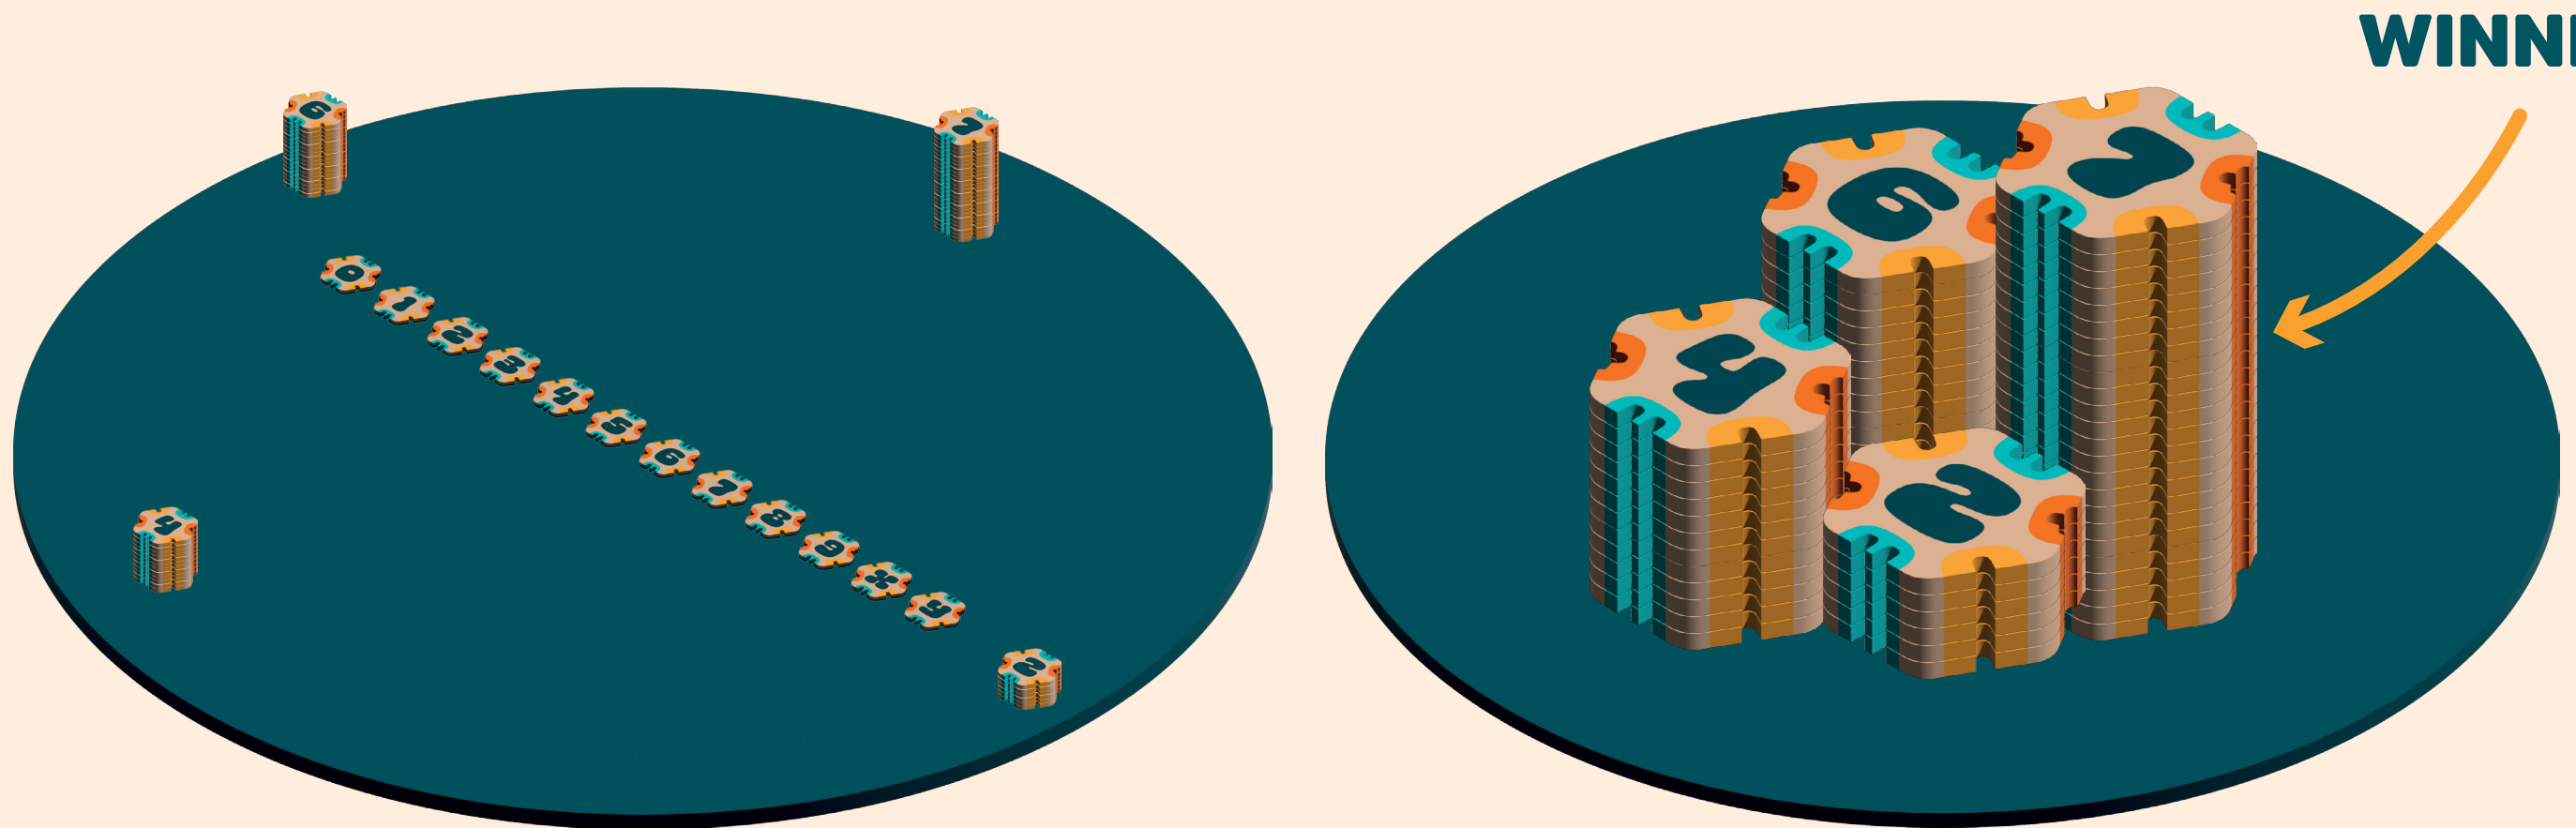

😊 End of the feast 😊

The game continues until:

- All the face-down tiles are gone.

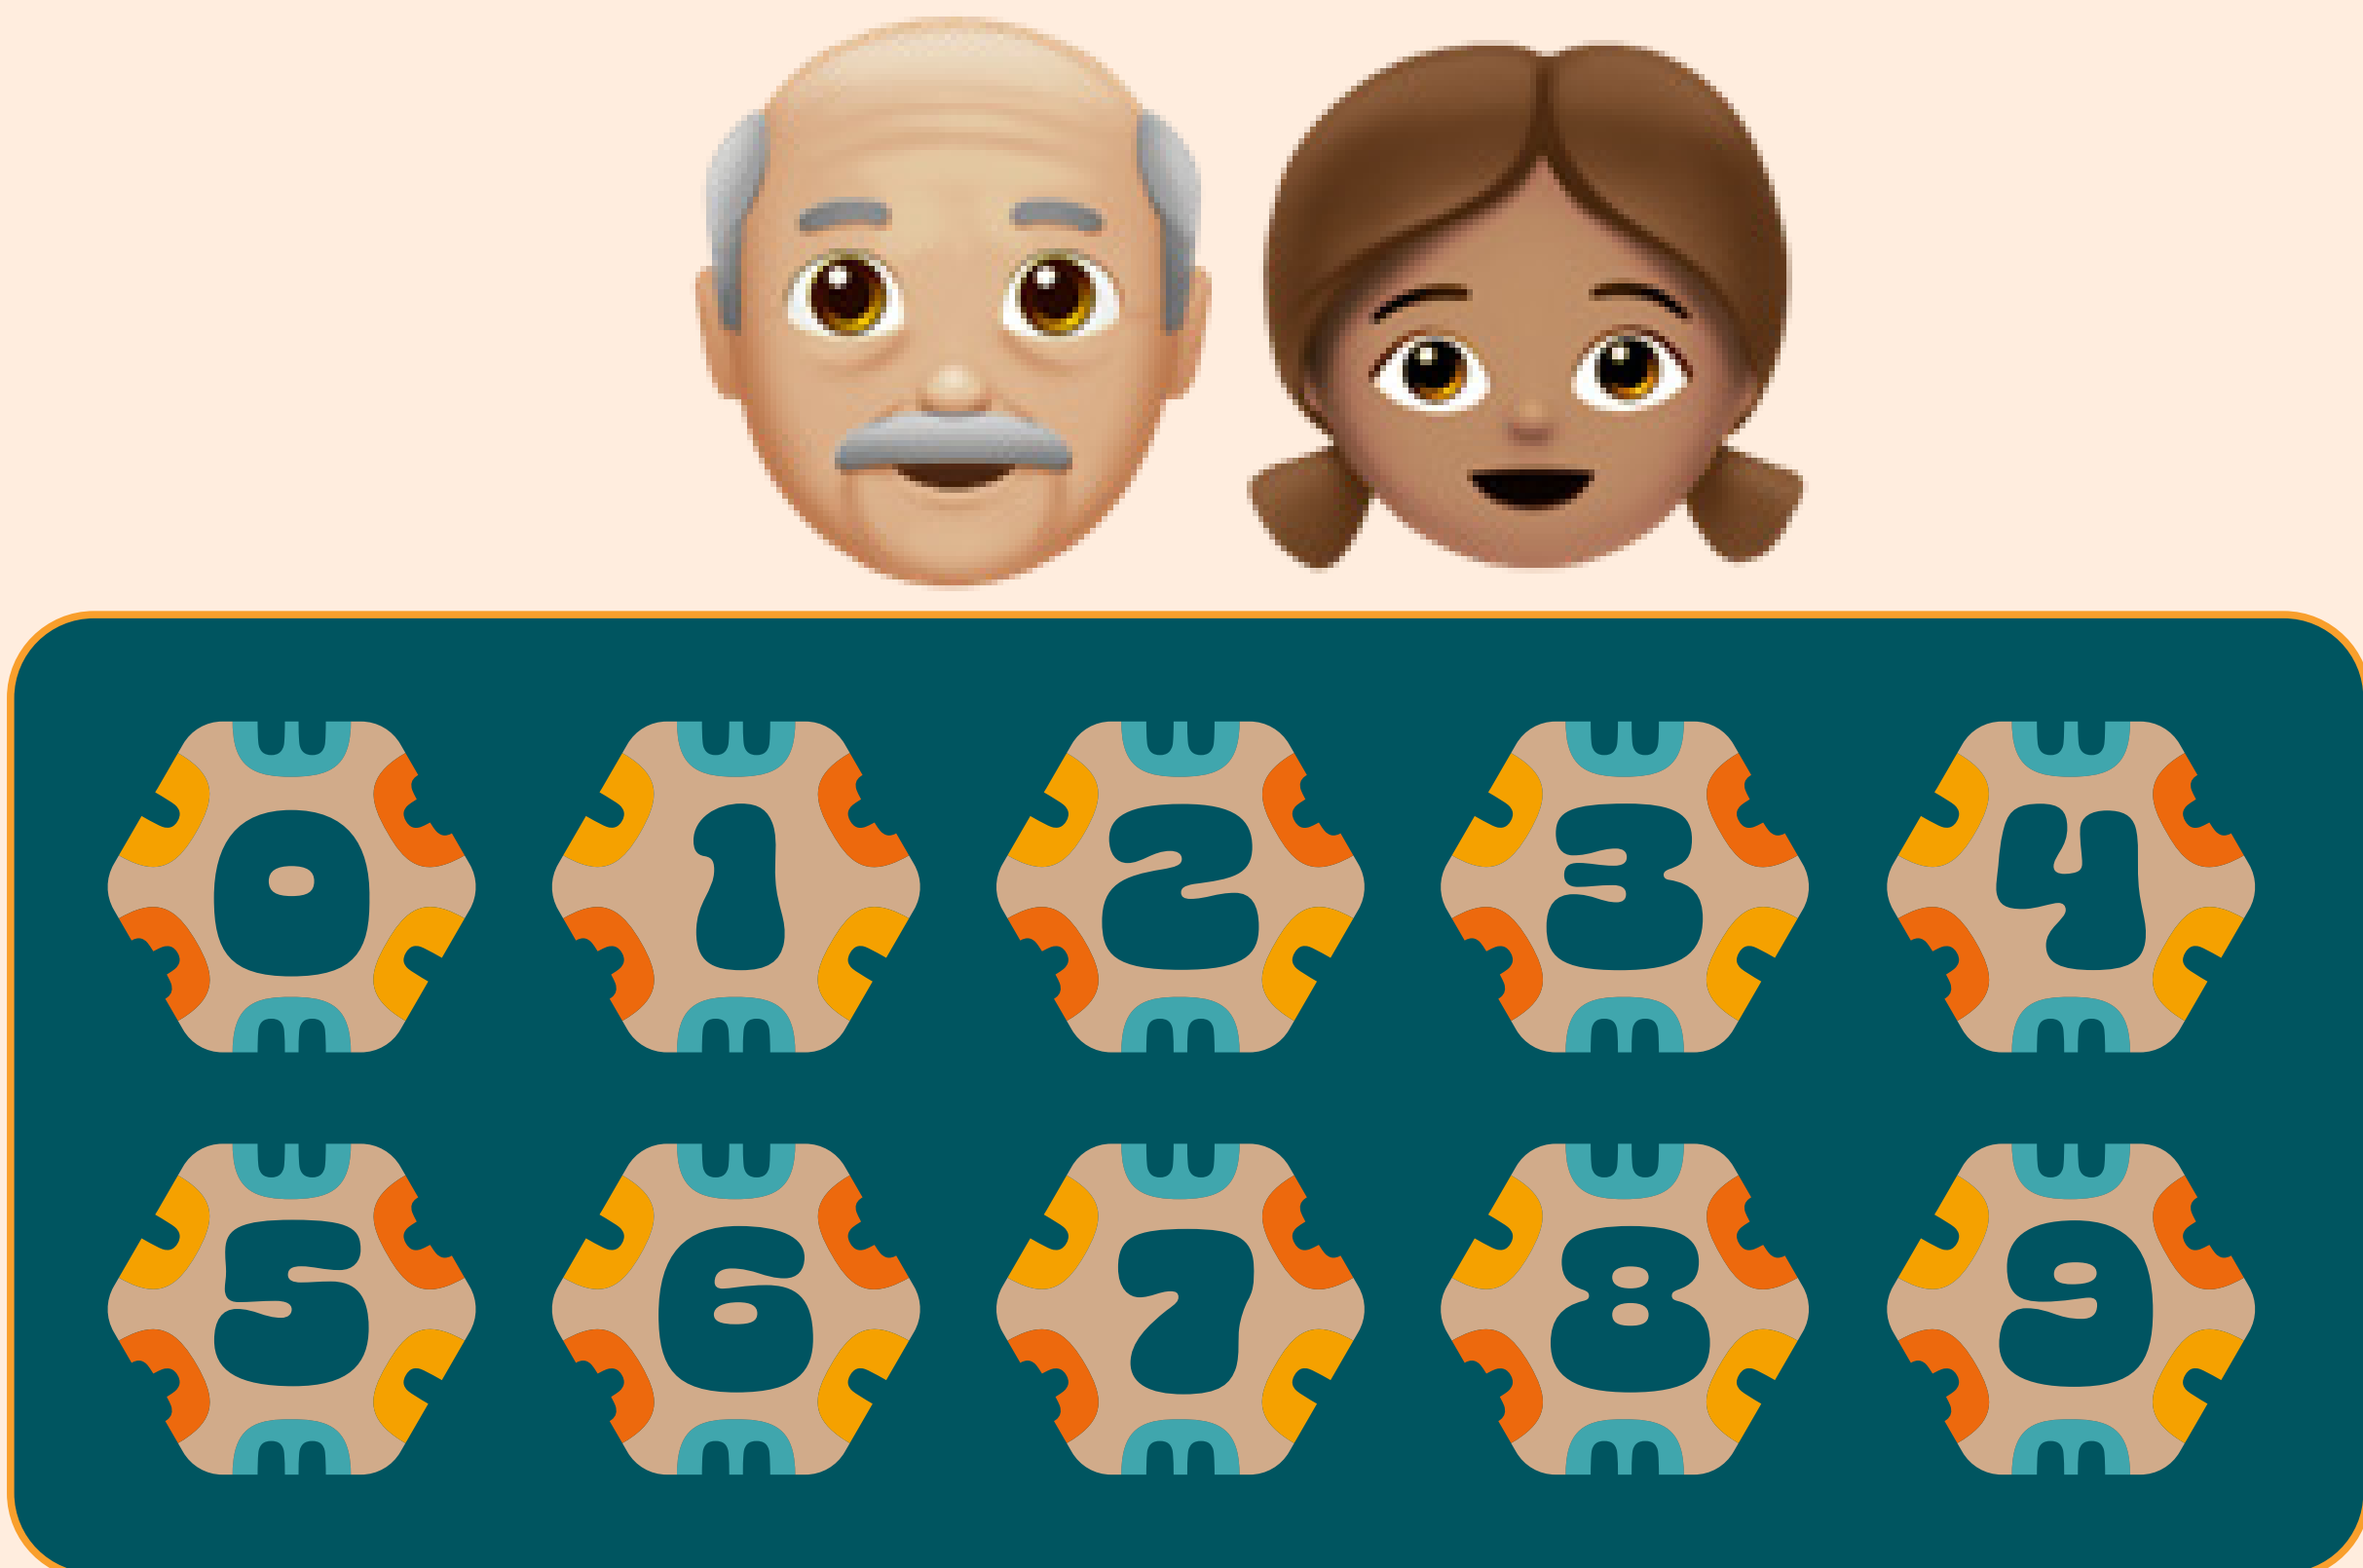

When this happens, players compare their towers of tiles. The player with the tallest tower wins. The most ravenous Traga-BYÖDÖs takes home the victory!

🍔 Tip for hungry players 🍔

This game is all about luck, there's no strategy involved, but it's perfect for playing with kids or even grandparents.

You'll work on number order without even realizing it... while having a blast gobbling up tiles.

🧑 And that's it 🧑

TragaBYÖDÖs is an easy and fun game for the whole family. Who will have the biggest appetite for tiles and build the tallest tower? Time to find out!
