

THE CAR

RISE TO THE TOP

A unique underground testing film released by Land Rover has confirmed rumours that the world's first premium compact SUV convertible will go on sale in the New Year. Forty metres below the streets of London, on the 26-mile network of Crossrail tunnels, the first prototype of Land Rover's Range Rover Evoque Convertible was put through its paces. Murray Dietsch, director of Land Rover Programmes said: "The tunnels are still under construction, so we had the unique opportunity to explore the vehicle's all-terrain ability in uncharted territory." Pricing in the UK will start from £47,500 OTR based on a TD4 HSE Dynamic derivative. landrover.com

THE HOTEL

HIP TO BE SQUARE

Opening in 2016 is the highly anticipated Four Seasons Hotel at Ten Trinity Square, the Grade II-listed former Port of London Authority building opposite the Tower of London. Occupying the lower ground to the third level, this spectacular neo-classical gem will offer 100 guest rooms and suites, restaurants, bars, meeting salons and a spa. Light and casual fare will be served all day at the Rotunda Lounge, while its French restaurant is tipped to be a new foodie favourite with the mention of a Michelin-starred chef at the helm. Further diversifying the gastronomic offering will be an Asian restaurant specialising in carefully curated Chinese and Japanese dishes. ten-trinity-square.com/the-hotel

THE COMPETITION

HOW BIZARRE

The Adventure Travel Show has announced a new photography competition whereby entrants are asked to forget technique and instead make judges laugh, gasp and look twice. The winning images will feature in the Strange World Exhibition at the Adventure Travel Show, which will run at Olympia London from 23-24 January. To enter, upload your shots at adventureshow.com by 4 January 2016.
