EVALUATION

Our experienced team of Speech/Language Pathologists/AAC Consultants are available to support your AAC evaluations. We work with the child's team to help assess skills and needs related to their vocabulary, language, access methods and mounting. The result is a tailored AAC device that supports successful communication across their varied environments.

01

TRIAL

We want their trial to be a success! Children are given time to test out their trial AAC device within their own communication environments. We'll even customize their AAC device before we send it! Their success is also why we provide ongoing support as needed to ensure that all goes as smoothly as possible. If their trial AAC device does not appear to be a good fit, we'll work together to explore other potential options.

02

TRAINING

We love to see children start communicating using their new AAC device as quickly as possible, so let us do the initial customizing and personalization before shipping it to them! Then, training and phone support are provided to the child's support team. As they grow and continue to reach for new heights, we are available for consultation related to implementation ideas, additional vocabulary options and access methods to meet their needs.
