Imagine being able to water your garden for half an hour and its absolutely free!

Rainwater stored in the collecting tank is mostly used for watering landscapes and gardens. Using rainwater instead of municipal water can help to improve the health of gardens, lawns, and trees. Rain is a naturally soft water and does not contain certain minerals, such as chlorine or fluoride. Also when you wash your car with rainwater, it does not leave spots after you rinse.

The proper use and maintenance of this system can greatly reduce storm run-off into local rivers and lakes. RTS Home Accents Rainwater Harvest Systems are simple to install and are suitable for almost any household property size or location.

These systems are very easy to maintain and their durable construction will ensure that they last for years to come. Our Rainwater Harvest Systems are manufactured using commercial grade 12-year UV stabilized polyethylene so they will not fade or deteriorate.

RTS Home Accents rainwater collecting solutions provide an efficient, economical and unique way to store rainwater.

Rainwater stored in an underground collecting tank is mostly used for watering landscapes and gardens. Its unique design takes up minimal property space as the majority of the tank is unseen, hidden below the surface.

Using collected rainwater can have a significant impact on your water bill and reduce your dependency on the municipal water supply, especially during the hot, dry summer months. Using rainwater instead of municipal water can help to improve the health of gardens, lawns, and trees. Rain is naturally a soft water and does not contain certain minerals, such as chlorine or fluoride.

With the proper use and maintenance of this system you can greatly reduce the amount of storm run-off into local rivers and lakes, while your lawn redeems the benefits of collected rainwater!
