We are fortunate to have many students visit LongHouse each year. Our docents provide an inquiry based tour affording children the time to observe, reflect and engage in open ended discussion. It’s an opportunity for them to make learning come alive. It’s also a time to make personal connections, to dream, to wonder and yes to be inspired by LongHouse and its gardens.

The Education Committee of LongHouse Reserve had a simple idea when thinking about its first Student Annual: to offer every school aged child, K – 12th grade, the opportunity to respond in their unique way to their personal experience at LongHouse. We like to say, “Think outside the box. There’s no right or wrong – just let us feel what you feel, see what you see. How has LongHouse inspired you?” So it began. Each year our Annual has grown and has become a much anticipated event with schools and within our community at large.

The number of submissions, from both schools and individual students visiting LongHouse with their families, has continued to grow. A juried panel of educators had the challenging task to look through the many creative entries, both individual and collaborative. Categories were as diverse as Digitally Generated Photography, Ceramics, Installation, Costume Design, and Videography. This year’s submissions treated us to new categories: Bilingual Collaboration which combined the art of language with the art of poetry, Art in Monologue, which combined speaking text with art and Art in Mathematics, a year long collaborative piece with Ross School geometry students.

100 ribbons were awarded to students from the following schools and school districts: Amagansett School, Bridgehampton School, Brookhaven Technical Center, Comsewogue High School, East Hampton Middle and High School, John M. Marshall Elementary School, Montauk Public School, Pierson High School, Ross School, Smithtown High School East, Southampton Intermediate School, Springs School, Tuckahoe Common School District, and West Babylon Senior High School.

On June 18th, over 250 students, families, teachers, principals, superintendents, community and press came together in celebration. The afternoon was complete with an awards ceremony, a reception with a performance by the Bridgehampton High School Marimba Band, and an outdoor display of all winning works. Best of Show was awarded to 12th grader, Geige Silver for, Nature Dress, in the category of Fashion Design. Works, other than fragile HS ceramics, are on display at both area Suffolk County National Banks and on our LongHouse website.

We thank all of the many schools who participated in this year’s Student Annual and to their principals who supported their teachers and recognized the importance of Arts in Education. Many thanks as well to our Education Donors whose continued support make all of our offerings to families, students, schools, interns and colleges possible. We hope that you join us in June 2014 for Student Annual VII and celebrate the inspired students from our community!

The Argument

Hi my name is Jerome me and my "friend" are arguing over a parking spot, well it’s my spot by the way my name is Moe. Also this is defiantly my sped, what!, no I was here first, well why did it take you so long to park well I was checking my tweets when you came in and so it all my fault, es exactly, I was being sarcastic, but it kinda is not, this is my spot and I’m not moving, and so they stayed there for ever frozen and to this day people come to see them.

2. Rianna Helier

The Statue’s Story

My hands  My face  My body Frozen Forever Stuck In place Standing Smiling Hands on face I'm Happy And Sad Remembering memories sad Not able to forget the past. Memories of My life. Stuck in my head Not able to escape. Laugh. Strange. What? Voices creep into my head. Slowly and quietly. But I can hear them. Why?

3. Emily Hugo

Alone I Stand

Frozen, stuck, a statue My hands forever covering Ears that have never been exposed. I have never been able To feel, or touch, or carry, For I am forever frozen With my hands over my ears. Standing alone, A statue, frozen, stuck, My feet forever bare, Stuck alone upon the Earth. Never have I been able To run, or dance or jump, For forever am I frozen, My feet stuck, alone I stand alone, Stuck, a frozen statue, My eyes forever closed, Eyes that cannot see. I have never been able To see the world go by. For I am forever frozen, With my eyes closed, forever. Alone Standing Frozen, Stuck, a Statue, With my mouth forever open, Silently shouting for freedom Never have I been able To yell, or scream, or shout, But, at least, I was frozen smiling.

4. Kurt Matthews

Screaming Man Clan

This is the day, the end is near. For these two people are filled with fear. That’s why they scream, they had a dream that the world is going to end. They talk to each other to make a plan, and a second later, they turned and ran. They are the only ones who survived, along with the rest of the screaming man clan.

5. Grace Myer

Now I’m Lost And Can’t Find My Way Home

I have to get out of here. I don’t know where to go. I want to scream. I want to go home.

Why did I leave in the first place? Why would I wander off? Why did I have to be so curious? Why did I have to get lost?

I had to leave to get more freedom. I had to get far enough from everyone. I let curiosity get the best of me. And now I’m lost and I can’t find my way home. What does it feel like to be free? What do friends do for you anyway? How do things get the best of people? And how do people find their way home?

Nature in Me
(a selection)
Inspired by our visit to LongHouse, and the poem, The Sun in Me
by Moira Andrews

Things are in me
by Fabricio Granado and Melanie Mones

The Grass is in me.
So straight and smooth,
In the parks
And around the houses.
The trees are in me,
The trees are moving
With the wind
In the beautiful sky.
The shiny rocks are in me,
And as the sun shines
And as the wind blows
The rocks move.

Things in me
La hierba está en mi.
Tan recta y lisa
En los parques
Y alrededor de las casas.
Los árboles están en mí,
Y los árboles se mueven
Con el viento,
En el hermoso cielo.
Las piedras brillantes están en mí,
Y mientras brilla el sol
Y como el viento sopla
Las rocas se mueven.

Nature
by Emily Bermeo and Kevin Hilario

I make a snowman
The snowflakes are beautiful
And so cold.
The birds are in me.
Blue and red eggs
That are little
Like a baby.
The pond is in me.
It is blue and bright with lily pads.
Jumping frogs and turtles swimming.
The ducks are quacking!
The cloud is in me,
Big fluffy,
Pretty and white,
In the blue sky.

La nieve está en mí.
Hago un muñeco de nieve.
Los copos de nieve son hermosos
Y tan fríos.
Las aves están en mí,
Huevos de color azul y rojo
Que son pequeños
Como un bebé.
El estanque está en mí,
Los patos están graznando.

EDUCATION FOCUS
Inspired by the natural beauty and sculptural aesthetic at LongHouse, the Education Committee seeks to empower visitors in a compelling and personal way. By providing a variety of resources to enhance the experience, we strive to awaken the senses, deepen one’s appreciation and empower the artist within. We offer docent-led school tours, curriculum and family-activity guides, online materials and videos. It is our intent that these resources, along with our festivals, workshops, and the Student Annual, build strong, lasting relationships between LongHouse and our students, educators, families, and community.
