Funded Accounts:

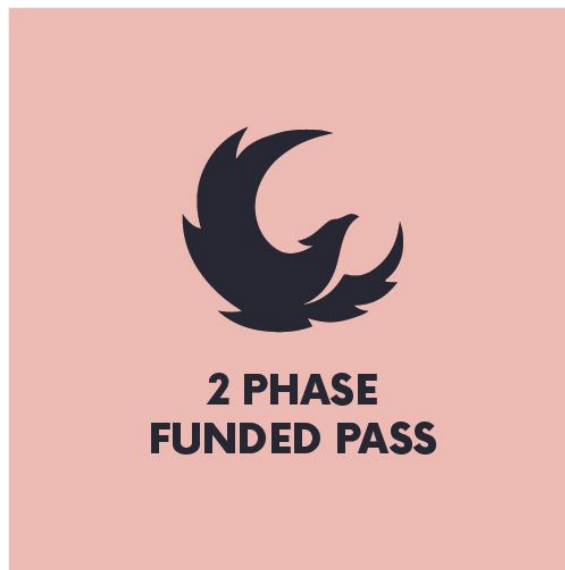

- Personal accounts yield higher profit than funded accounts. However, we understand that very few people have financial access to £45,000 to invest. This is where 'funded accounts' come in...
- A funded account is like a financial tool provided by a company that gives you money to trade with. You can use their funds to buy and sell stocks, currencies, or other assets. Any profits you make are shared with the company, and any losses are covered by them as per your private agreement. It's a way to start trading without using your own money, to eventually lead to funding your own personal trading capital.

At Embury FX, the capabilities of our AI trading tools make it possible for us to pass funded accounts in a matter of hours*. Passing these accounts for our clients gives them access to large amounts of capital that we can then run our revolutionary 'Expert Advisor' on to help you achieve financial freedom.

Funded Account Passes:

The HFT is our High Frequency Trading algorithm that is strictly used for certain prop firm evaluation phases. This tool allows you to gain access to that capital within 48 hours. Prop firms that allow HFT passing normally come with tighter restrictions on parameters such as Daily Drawdown limits and Overall Drawdown limits being reduced to an average of 4% daily and 8% overall as well as consistency rules, meaning your trade position sizes are limited to a certain range based on the risk factors you choose. This is because you are able to access their equity far quicker than that of a 2 Phase account. We advise you to use these accounts to scale your income and add additional 2 Phase accounts to your funded capital allowing for greater returns and multiple revenue streams.

2 Phase Funded challenges are more flexible funded accounts with less restrictions. We utilise our flagship Expert Advisor trading tool to accomplish 2 phase accounts, with proper risk management. You may be wondering 'why not just use the instant HFT?'. Due to the lengthier evaluation period commonly associated with 2 phase accounts, high frequency trading (HFT) is prohibited to compensate for more headroom on trading restrictions such as daily and overall drawdown and to encourage manual trading. These accounts take longer to pass, but will provide greater opportunities in the financial markets overall.

Conclusion

- With AI trading, you're not just keeping up with the market, you're staying ahead of it. It's a revolution that's changing the game, and we're here to help you leverage this transformative technology for your financial success..
