The unit comes pre assembled. You will need 2 adults to lift it out of the box and place the included secure bracket at the bottom section of table as you will see further in the instructions.. Open top of the box and move flaps all the way down to the side of box to begin removing and setting up your Hibachi BBQ table.

Remove the BBQ cooking grill and any other component or parts that are on top of the solid stainless steel grilling surface.

Removing the solid stainless steel grilling plate requires 2 adults due to its weight. Each adult should grab the handles located on each side and lift at the same time. Proper lifting procedures should be followed. Place solid stainless steel grilling surface to the side and away from box so as to have ample space to remove the actual base of the unit.

Once the solid stainless steel grilling plate has been removed, remove the stabilizing base and propane tank holder. The stabilizing base will be used to secure the table in place.

Grab the table base by the sides to lift up, the side leg arms of the table will drop downward, you will place in an upright position and place the brace in the bottom to secure it in place as per following step.

Grab the table base by the sides to lift up, the legs of the table will drop downward, place in an upright position and place the brace in the bottom to secure it in place. Once the base has been secured by the propane tank and stabilizing part, proceed to install the 4 wheels provided.

Grab the table base by the sides to lift up one side and screw in one wheel at a time. Screw in slowly to secure the wheels without damaging the treads on the base of the table.

This section how to open and close eating surface,.

There are 3 wooden table sections that are folded for easy carrying and storage, to raise the eating tables into place, grab the table wooden section and simply lift up until you hear them click into place. To lower eating tables simply grab the metal handles located on each side, lift up slightly and press on clips to fold down.
