- Ring -

First of all, you need to print this sheet of paper.
In order for us to confirm that the printed document is in A4 paper size, please select "Actual Size" in the printing options.
Then, please use your credit card to compare the dimensions for accuracy.

Measuring your ring

You can compare the size by using a ring that you have purchased before.
Place the ring inside the circular hole for comparison,
using the inner diameter of the ring as the standard.

Caution: Please try to use a ring with a flat side for comparison.
If you compare it with a ring that protrudes above on the side, it may not be accurate.

- Necklace -

The chain length of necklaces varies. The circumference of the neck and the size of the pendant can affect the position of the necklace itself and other styles.

Measuring your necklace

Measure and cut a piece of string to the same length as the necklace you're eyeing. Then, place it around your neck to see where it falls—the key to layering is striking the right balance. Consider the size and shape of the pendant. The Last Step, repeat the process to see how necklaces of different lengths may look together.

- Bracelet -

Size your cuffs and bangles to fit snugly, and your link and chain bracelets with a touch of breathing room to allow for movement.

Measuring your bracelet

Frist, grab a tape measure, length of string or strip of paper.
Then, wrap it around the wrist you'll wear your bracelet on. Mark the place where it joins.
Creating a stack? Measure where on your arm you'll wear each bracelet.
The last step, Lay your string or paper strip on a flat surface and use a ruler to measure the length up to the mark.
