Moodi Mugs™

created by Natalie Wilcox

Natalie Wilcox is the creator of Moodi Mugs, a line of inspirational drinkware that embraces mental wellness through her original art. Her designs celebrate and affirm joy in life as reflected in her animal and flower designs that are cool, a little quirky, and full of love. Natalie is a behavioral technician for early autism.

THE ART OF MARBLING

HANDMADE SURFACE DESIGN

The first form of marbling began in Japan in the 11th Century. Zen monks would use a practice call Suminagashi or "floating ink" as a kind of meditation and devotion. As trade developed between Asia, Mid East, and Europe the craft of marbling spread.

Today's marbling has evolved from the centuries-old art form. Modern marbling involves floating paint on water mixed viscous with carrageenan, a seaweed extract; creating intricate patterns and unique designs using unusual, handmade tools; and then laying paper, fabric, wood, or other porous materials onto the surface of the bath where the image immediately and permanently transferred to the desired surface.

Our Mission

We are in business to create extraordinary, artistic designs for a wide range of lifestyles and interests.

Our Story and Values

Indigo Falls was created to combine the elements of color and water into extraordinary drinkware that reflects the passions and interests of your life while quenching your thirst. Our continuing goal is to add more beautiful art, superior vessels and innovative products over time to keep our offerings relevant, fresh and exciting as our journey continues.

We are inspired to not only create an extraordinary product, but also to create an extraordinary company. We don't want to be the biggest. Instead, we want to be the best, with an amazing family culture that reflects our lasting values and beliefs about how a business should be run—every day. Collectively, we've had decades of experience and have seen the good, the bad and the ugly. We have learned well from our experience to create a thriving, value based culture at Indigo Falls. We are passionate about our company and values, and we believe that passion translates into truly caring about our associates, customers, suppliers, the environment and the community. Treating each other with respect and compassion are core values to how we do business, as well as giving complete effort to succeed, satisfy the customer, and never give up. Extraordinary values bring extraordinary results, Indigo Falls.
