“Dan takes a big problem, like human trafficking, and inspires anyone, anywhere to become part of the solution.”

SPEAKING TOPICS

What it Takes to be Restored

An overarching view of Worthwhile Wear's holistic approach to reach, serve, and sustain survivors.

The Voice of Trauma

Knowledge is power, so understanding the effects of trauma on the brain can better equip people who want to help survivors of human trafficking.

The Cost of Commitment

Dan gave up a comfortable life for his family and traded his business successes for a different kind of success.

How Did I Get Here?

Through the power of storytelling Dan shares how some of life's most unpredictable moments have shaped him.

ABOUT DAN

After just 6 years in a successful sales and marketing career at an engineering firm, Dan gave it all up to follow his desire to help survivors of human trafficking. Leveraging his business development experience and life lessons from growing up in Ukraine, Dan set out to meet the needs of survivors of human trafficking where he saw a gap in services. With more than a decade of working with survivors and leading a growing non-profit, Dan is eager to share what he's learned so that others can be equipped and encouraged to join the fight against trafficking.
