

Courage Lantern

Our illustration shows courageous Harriet holding a lantern that helps guide the enslaved people to freedom. Here is how to make your own Courage Lantern.

Body of the Lantern:

Fold the paper in half widthwise. Using the scissors cut slits starting on the folded side and cut until you are about an inch away from the edge. You can make the strips as wide or thin as you like.

Unfold the paper and, on each slit, write something you do that is courageous. For example: "I stand up for others" or "I voice my thoughts" or "I try out for the spelling bee." Anything you do that makes you feel confident and courageous is perfect!

Tape or glue the edges of the paper together so it forms a cylinder shape with the slits going up and down the length of the lantern.

Hang the lantern in a fun place and be reminded of your special words every day!
