6 unit minimum per color

American artist Sol Lewitt (1928 - 2007) became prominent in the middle of the 20th century and was linked to both the conceptualism and minimalism movements. He worked in a variety of mediums including paintings, drawings, print making, and installations. We drew inspiration from the "wall drawings" series which contain large stripes in bold and primary colors, particularly the installation at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, DC.
