

Antique 17th Century Bar de Montpellier French Limestone Flooring

Originally quarried in the 17th Century from the Montpellier region of France, these stately flagstones were used extensively in grand country homes and handsome manors throughout this area. These original flagstones with 17th century foot-worn patina were hand sewn and shaped with such artistry that each stone paver is a work of art. A rare French building material, once installed, a fine home transforms into an historic home of elegance and authenticity.
