Having an adventurous spirit, curatorial eye and artistic soul defines the influential woman of design. As a woman who possesses these exact qualities, Nancy D. Georgs is well known for discovering superlative lighting from the world's best makers. And in an exciting new development, she has just unveiled a groundbreaking venture. "We are proud to introduce Laurent Collection, a female-founded business that creates lighting inspired by the simplicity of the 70s aesthetic and our value for human connections," Georgs says.

Made with a unique glass-blown technique, the colors, layering and vibrancy of Georgs' pendants have stand-out style, while her holistic design approach takes the collection to the next level. "Our focus on sustainability and eco-friendly practices is central to our identity, making us a brand that appeals to those seeking purposeful and innovative choices with a strong design narrative."

"Laurent luxury lighting is curated exclusively for the trade."

ILLUMINATING INSIGHTS

- What inspired the Laurent Collection? We are highly sensitive to our clients' wants and needs, so when we noticed a gap in the market, we began brainstorming and found inspiration in our motto "See the Light, Let's Unite" to create this signature line that is launching from our Darien showroom.
- What motivates vou? The act of creating is my biggest motivator. Curating and designing products that stand out in the industry ignites my passion and drives my soul.
- Share your major goals moving forward. Our overarching future goal is to elevate the Laurent Collection to a prominent global position where it will serve as a hub that gathers and showcases exceptional international luxury lighting brands.
- What's your vision for the future of women in design? I envision a fostering and inclusive design industry that amplifies women's voices. celebrates their diverse perspectives and provides ample opportunities for growth.
