

CaddyDaddy Introduces Its New Premium Cart Bag

by Bill Cromwell, Publisher

CaddyDaddy Golf released its new Premium Cart Bag in December under its new RevCore brand, just in time for the spring 2024 golf season or that upcoming golf getaway. Start the new year with a new golf bag, and your game-day style will never look better.

For over 20 years, CaddyDaddy has been designing and producing premium travel bags, golf gloves, golf bags, and accessories. It uses the finest materials and hardware available, and its warranties and customer service are unmatched.

I've used CaddyDaddy's golf products since 2016, particularly its heavy-duty all-in-one travel golf club bags and superior golf gloves. I can attest to CaddyDaddy's cutting-edge products as high quality, durable, affordable, and reliable year after year. Its customer services are indeed unmatched.

The new RevCore Cart Bags feature 14-way full-length individual dividers to keep clubs completely separated and organized. Every detail was designed with a purpose. The velvet-lined top and oversized putter well are just a couple of key attributes to elevate your game. The integrated top grab handles and ergonomic rubber handles make these bags easy to transport from your vehicle to the course.

"Having headquarters in Chandler, AZ, has its perks, year-round outdoor equipment testing, extensive golf cart mileage matched with traditional cart bags," said Rod Dunlap, co-founder of CaddyDaddy. "The RevCore line was designed for everyday cart bag users. All details, components, and features were carefully planned and designed for both cart riders and pushcart users. After many years of development, we're thrilled to share our RevCore premium golf bag line."

RevCore cart bags with custom synthetic leather, debossed logos, and alloy hardware are inspired by classic tour bags. Every aspect of the RevCore cart bag promotes comfort, accessibility, and convenience.

Whether you ride in a cart or utilize a pushcart, you'll appreciate the easy-care exterior, forward-facing pockets, and the stay-flat base. I particularly like the stay-flat base on the RevCore bag. Cart bags tend to get top-heavy when fully loaded with equipment and easily fall over, but not with this “stay-flat base.”

RevCore bags are built with tour-grade synthetic leather, black alloy hardware, 14-way full-length individual dividers, and a velvet-lined top to keep clubs from clanging around. The expansive design features nine total pockets, including two large insulated cooler pockets and two single zipper waterproof felt-lined pockets for rangefinders or valuables. I love all the pockets, and the oversized putter well is extremely handy, particularly if you have large-headed putters. Overall, this is a stylish, first-class golf bag.

Best of all, RevCore premium cart bags retail at only $299.95. That’s a bargain for a cart bag of this quality! They are available in Matte Black and Dark Navy at www.RevCoregolf.com. But Wait! TEE TIMES GOLF GUIDE Magazine readers can get a limited-time Discount of $50 Off when you enter the code “KC” at checkout.

For more information about CaddyDaddy Golf’s First-Class Carry-On Luggage Duffel, golf club travel bags, 9-pack coolers, or Claw Max golf gloves, visit www.caddydaddygolf.com. TEE TIMES GOLF GUIDE Magazine readers can get a limited-time “Discount of 20% Off” of these products (all non-sale items) by entering the code AZ20 at checkout.

See the new RevCore bag below at the Bushnell booth at the Kansas City Golf Show.

RevCore bags feature 9 pockets. Two are large insulated cooler pockets.

RevCore’s Stay Flat Base keeps your bag standing tall.