

CaddyDaddy Unveils Its New Claw Max Golf Glove

Editorial by Bill Cromwell

The all-new Claw™ Max Golf Gloves by CaddyDaddy are designed to fit and feel like premium leather gloves, but unlike typical leather gloves, Max gloves provide amazing durability with a superior grip. The full synthetic leather top with mesh inserts provides exceptional comfort. The palm is constructed of synthetic suede layered with the exclusive silicone web coating for which Claw gloves are known.

“Our team was amazed at the lack of innovation in golf gloves. Leather gloves simply wear out too quickly, and synthetic gloves are uncomfortable and lack the club feel golfers expect,” said Rod Dunlap, Co-founder of CaddyDaddy. “We’ve spent many months testing various materials and designs; we finally obtained synthetic leather that’s up to our standards for the new Claw Max gloves. All our Claw Gloves help golfers relieve grip pressure due to the tacky nature of the silicone palm, which improves player confidence on every swing. Our testing has shown the Max will last 30 or more rounds minimum — with some players getting upwards of 80 rounds out of a single glove!”

I’ve been using CaddyDaddy Claw Max golf gloves for the last five years and love the feel and great grips. It’s the only golf glove I wear. My take is no other golf glove grips like the Claw — best gripping golf glove I’ve ever used. I tell golf friends it’s like wearing a wide receiver’s gloves — tacky enough for one-handed touchdown catches. Having a good grip on your clubs is more important than many golfers think. If a glove is slick or you have sweaty hands and lose your grip the club will twist in your hand, causing shots to go off the intended flight path and/or loss of distance. Plus, it’s a bonus that not only do Claw Max gloves wear well (long-lasting), but the glove’s flex-mesh upper allows excellent airflow, so on those hot days, your hand stays cool. Oh, did I say — it grips like a Claw!

New to the August 2023 released Claw Max Golf Glove version is the more durable material on the top side of the hand. Previous versions were made of a texture suede-like material that got dirty quicker and did not hold up as well with multiple uses and heavy sweating. CaddyDaddy listened to golfers and now the
