Sarah Smart

Sarah first began skiing with Wasatch Adaptive Sports (WAS) when she was five years old and she looks forward to the Steve Young Ski Classic each year. Taking a picture with Steve Young has been a fun way to document each of her last eight years of growth. WAS was suggested to us as a program that might be beneficial to Sarah by her doctor. She had been diagnosed with cerebral palsy and is a left-side hemiplegic. Ski lessons were exciting to her as she had always wanted to share in the outdoor activities she watched her big brother take part. At the time, we could see the possible physical rehab benefits for Sarah, but could not imagine the positive psychological benefits she would gain as well. Since that time, skiing is a family activity and tradition. Sarah considers it "her sport" and is comfortable on any slope. She has grown physically stronger; and also gained self-confidence that has helped her in all areas of her life. Sarah learned that physical activity can help to clear the mind and her teachers see a difference in her as well. She would often come home tired, but with a feeling of great accomplishment.

Sarah is now in high school and has become a confident skier. She has learned that she can do whatever she sets her mind to; it may take her a little longer to learn than it does others, but through personal effort she continues to successfully accomplish her goals. This is a life lesson that now defines who she is. I attribute Sarah's persistence and patience to skills she learned from skiing with WAS. She learned that if you fall, get up. If it's hard, keep trying and you will get it. Practice, practice, practice. You can do it. And to remember, it never hurts to sing a song along the way to keep your spirits high.

MichelleLynn Harvey

At age 15, I decided to give acting a rest and focus on technology. Almost immediately, I began receiving calls from my community theater contacts pulling me back in. A life changing call was from an employee of an NFL Y.E.T.Center. She told me the Forever Young Foundation opened a Forever Young Zone and was providing training and mentoring in interviewing techniques from an executive at the CW Television Network. A week after the first meeting, I found myself interviewing NFL Commissioner, Roger Goodell, Hall of Fame Quarterback, Steve Young, and other NFL greats during Superbowl Week 2007.

At 17, when the Superbowl was in Tampa Bay, 2009, I attended Media Day. I interviewed the Colts, Saints, and again Roger Goodell & Steve Young for the second time. My exposure that weekend got me invited to player's mixers and The Living Legends Luncheon, where I was one of the first people to interview both Michael Vick & Tony Dungy. (Mr. Dungy had agreed to mentor Mr. Vick to resurrect his career and I interviewed them in February 2009, before Vick signed his new contract with the Eagles.)

Fortunately, the confidence and support I received from my experiences through the Forever Young Zone at the NFL Y.E.T. made it clear that sharing my dreams through the arts has chosen me. "If you love something, set it free... if it comes back, it's yours." I am now 20 years old, owning & operating my own video production company, utilizing the skills I mastered back in the Forever Young Zone.

Letter from the Co Chairs

The children we serve are the heart of our organization, and they have quite a story to tell. Barb and I have experienced children playing and sharing much needed downtime with their parents in our hospital Forever Young Zones. We have observed educational opportunities shrinking the digital divide through our technology centers in our 8 to 80 Zones and Forever Young Zones in the NFL YET Centers. We have seen Forever Young Foundation International Schools continue to flourish and give children access to education opportunities not formerly available to them in Ghana, Africa. We now look forward to our Foundation's newest initiative, Sophie's Place -- special music therapy rooms which will debut in children's hospitals in 2013.

Forever Young continues to be dedicated to fine tuning our efforts. We understand that to remain relevant, we need to chronicle our success stories and create additional ways to share them with you, inviting you to become more involved in our service to others. We continue to be open to your suggestions and look for ways to be more innovative in delivering opportunities to the children we serve, more dedicated to capacity building, and expanding our outreach.

Barb and I find ourselves more resolute to being hands-on in working with the children our Forever Young Foundation serves and sharing with our children the opportunities they can experience. As Mahatma Gandhi said, "Be the change we wish to see in the world." We finish this off with words that never feel adequate in conveying how much we appreciate you, our Forever Young Family, THANK YOU.

Forever Young Foundation

Founded in 1993 by NFL Hall of Famer and Super Bowl MVP Steve Young, Forever Young Foundation is a non-profit, 501(c)(3) organization that serves children facing significant physical, emotional, and financial challenges. Funds raised further our efforts to provide academic, athletic, and therapeutic opportunities currently unavailable to these children. Forever Young Foundation has determined the best way to accomplish our mission is through the development and support of charitable organizations with a proven track record in delivering services.

Forever Young Foundation primarily focuses our efforts in Northern California, Arizona, Utah, and Africa. We have also joined the NFL in their nationwide project developing Youth Education Towns (YET). The Foundation's development efforts include the creation of Forever Young Zones, which include technology and multimedia labs in YET Centers and state-of-the-art interactive play areas in children's hospitals.

You can easily judge the character of a man by how he treats those who can do nothing for him.

James D. Miles

Forever Young Foundation has teamed with The Arbinger Institute, a leader in management training and team building, to provide a year long training for nonprofit leaders. Participants learn how to develop, implement, and update a one year operating plan and three year long-range strategic business plan; hold themselves accountable to their contributors; and keep board members, staff, and volunteers focused on achieving results. Through underwriting from Forever Young Foundation, private donors, and corporations, this training is offered at minimal cost to nonprofit leaders seeking to ensure the sustainability and growth of their organization for generations to come.

ENGAGE NOW

AFRICA

Under the direction of our friends Bob and Lynette Gay, Forever Young Foundation continues to enhance the lives of children and families throughout Africa. This ambitious endeavor, entitled Engage Now Africa, is currently operating in the countries of Ethiopia, Ghana, Namibia, and Sierra Leone. We utilize local leaders who understand the challenges faced in their local communities, and who are best equipped to help determine and manage effective solutions.

In just a few short years, we have established a network of successful schools, a model microcredit lending network, student loan programs, health clinics, clean water projects, and more. Together we are making a difference .... one village at a time.

MULTIMEDIA ZONES

Forever Young Media Zones provide a state-of-the-art radio, TV, film and design studio, as well as a professional-quality recording studio with an isolated vocal booth and digital audio mixing. This multimedia equipment and programming will enable youth to develop diverse, high-level communication skills, while training on professional equipment. The goal of these zones is to put technological tools into the hands of creative young people, allowing them to explore and prepare for careers in media and design while developing practical production and copy through their own artistic expression.

HOSPITAL ZONES

Hospital Forever Young Zones are recreational therapy rooms created to provide tools for exercising the imagination of seriously ill children who face emotional and physical challenges. Forever Young Foundation has three such Zones in the following children's hospitals: Primary Children's Medical Center in Salt Lake City, Utah; Lucille Packard Children's Hospital in Palo Alto, California; and Cardon Children's Hospital in Mesa, Arizona. These Zones provide a safe place where staff can build supportive relationships with children and teens to help them in their recovery process. They provide a sanctuary where children working through serious illness and rigorous treatments can relax, play, and just be a child.

8 TO 80 ZONES

The 8 to 80 Zones are a collaboration between Steve Young and Jerry Rice, which provide youth living in underserved communities the skills to pursue careers in technology and media. Steve and Jerry's partnership with The 49ers Academy continues to offer creative, exciting experiences to youth that attend the school. The 8 to 80 Multi-Media Zone not only allows for artistic expression, but also affords students the opportunity to gain training on industry standard equipment and software in the areas of television, radio, voice recording and graphic design. The uniqueness of the 8 to 80 Zone also provides additional fundraising opportunities for the center. Steve and Jerry are looking forward to building more 8 to 80 Zones in the upcoming year.

Founded in 1988 by Larry D. Olsen and Ezekiel C. Sanchez, ANASAZI Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) nationally accredited outdoor behavioral healthcare provider serving youth 12-17, young adults 18-25, and their parents. With remarkable results, the caring staff at ANASAZI provide treatment for substance abuse, depression, family conflict, and other concerns. The mission of ANASAZI is to prepare parents and children to turn their hearts to one another and walk in harmony in the wilderness of the world. Forever Young Foundation supports ANASAZI in its efforts, and provides scholarships to financially challenged families for whom the cost would otherwise be preclusive.

The Taylor Family Foundation (TTFF) has been committed to enhancing the quality of life for children in Northern California suffering from life-threatening illnesses and disabilities. In its second decade of operations, TTFF has helped over 12,000 children living with a variety of skin and heart diseases, Crohn's, colitis, diabetes, autism, HIV/AIDS and other life-threatening illnesses. TTFF provides these children the opportunity to attend summer camp at Camp Arroyo.

Wasatch Adaptive Sports is a premier ski and summer program for children with special needs. Wasatch Adaptive Sports offers ski lessons, snowshoe tours, and sledge hockey throughout the winter, and numerous outdoor recreational activities such as hiking on barrier-free trails, fishing, biking, tram rides, and environmental awareness programs in the summer. With the aid of the Forever Young Foundation, the Wasatch Adaptive Sports program gave 1,950 lessons to special needs children in both the summer and winter. At least 90% of the lessons provided by Wasatch Adaptive Sports are on either full or partial scholarship.

EagleEyes is an innovative eye-controlled technology developed at Boston College. The purpose of the EagleEyes project is to help children and adults with profound physical disabilities interact with the outside world and communicate with other people by using the computer. EagleEyes allows an individual to control the mouse pointer on the computer by using only his or her eyes. EagleEyes is used for entertainment, communication and education, including gaining access to the Internet.

Treehouse Children's Museum in Ogden, Utah, has a unique focus on family literacy. Treehouse exhibits invite children, parents, and school children to step physically into the world of stories and books. Its interactive exhibits and programs promote the development and practice of vital emerging literacy and reading skills. Recognizing that there are many kinds of literacy - from geographic to computer literacy - and that children need a variety of ways in which to respond to stories, including music, theater and imaginative play, Treehouse offerings are diverse and yet unified by our mission. It is a valuable resource to teachers and parents who are striving to help their children grow into life-long readers.

Fundraising Events

Forever Young Foundation once again held our four annual signature events in 2011. In addition to the annual events, we were thrilled to have legendary comedian Brian Regan join us for a special benefit concert to kick off our new Sophie's Place initiative. It was an enjoyable and poignant evening as we came together in a spirit of laughter and remembrance to celebrate the life of singer/songwriter Sophie Barton. It was a fitting kickoff to our new Sophie's Place initiative which will bring the healing power of music along with Sophie's indomitable spirit to children in hospitals around the country.

We express gratitude to the wonderful sponsors and celebrities that give of their time and resources to make these events successful. Countless children continue to be blessed through your participation and generosity.

Comedian, Brian Regan, hosted a benefit comedy show in honor of the Forever Young Foundation at the Rose Wagner Performing Arts Center on June 28th, 2011. O.C. Tanner kicked off the evening with a reception for partners of the Forever Young Foundation at their flagship store. The evening was dedicated to and celebrated the life of Sophie Rose Barton, a young lady whose life was taken too soon. Sophie's Place will be a room built at Primary Children's Hospital that will create awareness and share the healing power of music – gifted to those children who are struggling with serious illness or injury. We know Sophie's legacy and love for the arts will continue to resound throughout Sophie's Place and the children being served at Primary Children's Hospital.
