Tips for Quartz Countertop Stain Removal

Application Procedure

Warning: Always use the Blue “Non-Scratch” Scotch Brite Pad shown above.

- 1) Wet the sponge with water and lightly ring out the water from the sponge.
- 2) Apply a “silver dollar” size amount of Soft & Scrub with bleach onto the surface stained area.
- 3) Using the Scotch-Brite side of the sponge and going in a Circular Motion, begin to remove the stain.
- 4) You should see immediate results, but you may have to repeat the process depending on the type of stain.
- 5) Once the stain has been removed, clean the surface area with clean water.

“I have found that these two products will remove just about any stain from a quartz surface. It will remove rust spots, rubber marks left on the surface of quartz slabs from suction cups and A-frames, magic marker, red wine, and just about any stain. So far I’ve actually been able to remove all stains I’ve come up against.”
