

ORISA® Nomad: water filtration for vehicles moves up a gear

Fonto de vivo, a company committed to universal access to drinking water, is unveiling ORISA® Nomad: a pack combining the ORISA® water purifier with a tap connection dedicated to vans and motorhomes. A solution for travellers looking for autonomy and resilience.

Freedom, simplicity and the end of plastic bottles

ORISA® Nomad makes it easy to filter water directly on board. The result: no more need to buy packs of water. The result: considerable space savings, less plastic waste and an investment 4.5 times cheaper than bottled water.

Dual high-performance filtration technology

ORISA® Nomad combines an ultrafiltration membrane (0.01 micron) that is effective against viruses, bacteria, parasites and microplastics, with an activated carbon filter that reduces the chemical content and improves the taste and smell of the water. Its built-in cleaning system reduces clogging and extends the life of the membrane, which can filter up to 20,000 litres of fresh water - or more than 13,333 1.5-litre bottles - before needing to be replaced.

« Our ambition is to offer nomads access to quality drinking water, without generating plastic waste and without dependence on electricity. », explains Anthony Cailleau, Chairman of Fonto de vivo.

A 3-in-1 pack designed for life on the move

ORISA® Nomad is a versatile system that adapts to all modes of travel:

- In the open: standard use of the ORISA® purifier
- Remotely: remote filtration from a spring or tank
- On board: direct connection to the tap in the converted vehicle

A single device for all your drinking water needs, wherever you are.

An adaptable solution for existing users

The system takes less than an hour to install, thanks to a video tutorial and detailed instructions.

©Fonto de vivo – Pack ORISA®
Nomad raccordé à un fourgon

With no electricity required, it respects the delicate management of energy on road trips. Users already equipped with an ORISA® water purifier can purchase the tap connection separately and upgrade their equipment to an on-board solution.

The ORISA® Nomad pack is available:

- On the official shop: www.fontodevivo.fr
- At Rémy Frères, Idylcar dealership in Ruffec (16)

Introductory offer: €389 instead of €429 (limited quantities)

About us

Fonto de vivo develops portable, sustainable water filtration equipment used in over 50 countries, in humanitarian, home, autonomous or nomadic contexts. Its mission: to empower each and every one of us to be resilient in the face of the water crisis.

<https://www.fontodevivo.fr/en>

Press contact

Solenne RAIMOND - Marketing and Communications Manager

Email : communication@fontodevivo.fr