Growing Good Gardeners

Sharing your love of gardening with kids is especially rewarding. Find a little garden space or set some pots in your garden for your children, grandchildren or neighbors to plant, dig, rake or play in.

And an added bonus – kids want to eat what they grow themselves! The excitement of picking the first ripe cherry tomato, snow pea or green bean, carving a homegrown pumpkin for Halloween, or presenting the family with a bouquet straight from the garden may well turn a young gardener into a gardener for life!
