

who we are

jack henry is an award winning self care and wellness brand based in costa mesa, ca with a global presence.

all formulations are original and created in-house by our team. no outside chemists or labs. we operate and manage production, inventory, logistics, marketing, sales, and product development full vertically by our team. we have a deep supply chain with family-run, eco-cert and sustainable farms for our ingredients.

jack henry® brand overview

transparency

whats on the inside matters most. we believe that our dedication to transparency in every part of what we do is what separates us. using only functional ingredients, every formulation is always free of aluminum, paragons, phthalates, pegs, sulfates, silicones, plastics, gluten, glycols, mineral oils and artificial fragrance.

education

what starts with a shift in the way we see ingredients, leads into an overall lifestyle change. we always educate our customers not only on how to use jack henry products effectively, but how to take better care of themselves.

sustainability

we're committed to clean products from start to finish. that means we care just as much about how our products work for you as we do about their impact on the planet. we strive to use sustainable, recyclable materials and ethically made/grown ingredients whenever possible.

design

good art is the elimination of the unnecessary and intention leads to innovation. we're inspired by the things around us and believe great design enhances your life. we carry this mentality in everything we create; from product packaging and email communication to social media creation and beyond.

our ingredients

every ingredient we use is of the highest quality. directly from the earth, single molecules, natural isolates; all sourced from where they are natively made and grown. formulated with only active ingredients and without unnecessary fillers, each component plays an integral role in the jack henry ecosystem.

we have created a synergistic relationship between our products. simply put, they work better together. for example, the prebiotics in our cleansers work effectively and in tandem with the sea kelp in our moisturizers to give real results.

jack henry® studios costa mesa

we have created a space that redefines the meaning of wellness. with a focus on education, we are bridging the gap between self-care and functionality. every service has been designed for you and your needs.

here, we create long lasting brand fidelity and affinity through relationship and self exploration. jack henry studios isnt a salon, barbershop or retail space. its a wellness destination.
