BEHIND THE BRAND

Based in Australia, LUMIRA was founded in 2013 by creative director Almira Armstrong, to bring a bold and unique approach to fragrance creation. This niche fragrance company continues to expand, with a sought-after collection of wearable perfumes, and other scented delights still to come. All LUMIRA products are proudly made in Australia using the finest luxury ingredients. Whether for the home or the self, these are artisanal scents for the sophisticated fragrance aficionado.

Each of their scents can be directly traced to a specific destination: a bustling urban environment, a far-flung village in the countryside, a luxurious island resort. They distil not only the olfactory cues of each locale, but also its ambience; the lasting impression it leaves on a visitor. In turn, these fragrances evoke a specific feeling – some uplifting, others soothing – in their new environment. Those who welcome LUMIRA into their world find it acts as a perfumed portal to other corners of the globe. This is the magic and luxury of a hand-crafted scent.
