VISUAL MERCHANDISING

CLEOME

Cleome evokes a picnic in a mossy meadow. A tattered old novel. This scent was inspired by fresh running ink, parchment paper and antique wood. Named after Cleome, an herbaceous green flowering plant. Top notes of grapefruit, fresh-cut grass, and violet are grounded by woody base notes of nutmeg, cedarwood, and vetiver.

TOP GRAPEFRUIT, FRESH-CUT GRASS

ANTHEIA

Taking its name - and curious, romantic spirit - from the amber-haired Greek goddess of gardens, floral wreaths, and true love, Antheia is a beguiling, ever-blooming scent. Imagine it wafting through the hills of Crete or Sicily on an early summer's evening, with base notes of Magnolia petal, night blooming Italian jasmine, and sun-drenched tuberose. A whisper of Ylang Ylang and a wink of pink peppercorn enlivens any room, garden soiree, dinner for two, or just you.

MELI

The Greek word for honey, Meli is just as warm and sensual. A sun kissed afternoon spent wandering a souk in a faraway land. Top notes of honey, cedarwood and jasmine intercept with base notes of orris and leather.

EIRA

Inspired by the warm woody feel of a Scandinavian cabin, where shadows of a crackling fire dance against ancient pine beams, this scent infuses any space with demure sensuality. The name Eira comes to us from the Nordic tribe Sami, with top notes of patchouli, pinewood, and Tonka bean. Base notes of clove, coffee, sandalwood, and Lichen Absolute create a moody, timeless scent – a lingering memory burning bright into the night.

ORO

Sheltered from the passage of time, Oro is evocative of underground Paris from years past. Botanical top notes of hyacinth and geranium intercept with moody base notes of cardamom, oakmoss, clary sage, and vetiver. Vintage in its origin, Oro is reminiscent of an heirloom jewel; brilliant and full of mystery.
