

Alpha Elegant Message Pager

Versatile

The Alpha Elegant Message Pager supports many functions. Besides the basic 4 line display it has a strong and customisable zoom display of four to two lines for very clear viewing. Incorporated, powerful functionality and advanced technology.

Discreet

The Alpha Elegant can be programmed to alert you silently of an incoming message and store this within the unit to read, save or delete at a later time.

Reliable

This pager is extremely reliable receiving messages within seconds. The UK Paging Network use satellite communication to send messages to local transmitters which are picked up by this pager.

Easy To Use

To send a message, callers simply dial your pager number and leave a numeric message (or with the Call Centre Operator if you have the bureau service). Alternatively, messages can either be sent by one of our direct input services or email (which is a chargeable additional service).

Call Charges

Calls to this pager from BT landlines are charged by the length of time you are on the phone. The pence per minute price may also vary depending on the time of day.

Other operators (including mobile networks) may charge different rates.
