Mahé Named Visiting Professor at Harvard

Dr. Jean-Pierre Mahé, Professor of Classical and Modern Armenian at the University of Paris (Sorbonne) and editor of the Revue des Études Arméniennes, will be visiting professor at Harvard University for the fall 1987 term.

Prof. Mahé will offer two courses at Harvard, one in Early Armenian Literature and the other in the Classical Armenian language.

A scholar who has published many articles on various aspects of Armenian literary history, Prof. Mahé recently completed a translation into French of the Armenian classic Book of Lamentations by Grigor Narekatsi. He has authored a lengthy preface in English and French, “The Spirit of Early Armenian Printing,” which appears in Catalogue des “Incunables” Arméniens (1511/1695) by Raymond H. Kevorkian, recently published in Switzerland.

He has become increasingly interested in Armenian literature of the Golden Age of the fifth to seventh centuries and, particularly, the personality of philosopher Anania Shirakatsi.

Prof. Mahé has headed the Armenian section of the Department of Eastern Languages and Civilizations at the Sorbonne since 1977. From 1975 to 1977 he taught at the State University in Yerevan, Armenia, and conducted research at the Armenian manuscript library there (the Matenadaran).

During the 1984-85 academic year Prof. Mahé spent several months as visiting professor at Laval University in Quebec, Canada, and delivered many lectures in the United States as well during that period. NAASR members in the greater Boston area will remember his very interesting talk on “The Cultural and Economic Impact of Early Armenian Printing,” which was given in May 1985 in Watertown under the sponsorship of NAASR.

Yerevan Sister City Delegation Visits NAASR Headquarters

The official five-member Sister City delegation from Yerevan, Armenia, paid a visit to NAASR Headquarters on Tuesday afternoon, May 19.

Headed by Yerevan Mayor Edward Avakian, the delegation toured the Headquarters building, showing special interest in the extensive collection of English-language books on Armenian subjects found in NAASR’s Book Clearing House and the holdings of the Reference and Research Library.

A complete set of NAASR publications, including books, the Journal of Armenian Studies, and the NAASR Newsletter, was presented to the Yerevan Mayor by NAASR Board Chairman Manoog S. Young. A similar set was presented to Sergei A. Hampartzoumian, Rector of Yerevan State University. Packets of selected publications were presented to the other members of the delegation: Vladimir Aghayan, Deputy of the Yerevan City Council; Robert Nazarian, of the Ministry of External Affairs; and Levon Shahzadeyan, a linguist formerly with the United Nations and who is now a senior aid to the Armenian Council of Ministers.

In return, Mayor Avakian presented Mr. Young with new English-language publications from Yerevan.

On hand to greet the guests from Armenia were several NAASR Board members and the staff.

The visit to NAASR was one of many stops made by the Sister City delegation during its visit to Cambridge. The week’s

Continued on page 2

Gulezian Papers Donated

The papers of the late Dr. Lucy Gulezian of Philadelphia, who headed a massive relief effort to aid Armenians abroad in the post-World War II period, have been donated to NAASR by her granddaughter, Araxie L. Samelian. Her papers shed much light on community activities of the period and on the Daughters of Armenia relief organization. See page 4

INSIDE STORIES

Congressmen Respond

Copies of Neither To Laugh nor To Weep: A Memoir of the Armenian Genocide, by Abraham Hartunian, recently released by NAASR in a new second edition, were sent to every member of the U.S. Congress. Letters from Congressmen in response have been steadily coming into NAASR Headquarters. See page 3
Sister City Greetings

The following is the text of a toast addressed to Yerevan Mayor Edward Avakian prepared by NAASR Board Chairman Manoog S. Young for delivery at the Cambridge-Yerevan Sister City Reception on Wednesday, August 16, 1978.

It is my pleasure to bring to you, Mayor Avakian and your distinguished colleagues, the heartfelt and sincere greetings of the Board of Directors and Members of the National Association for Armenian Studies and Research (NAASR) on this historic visit of the Armenian city of Yerevan to the major cultural and commercial center of Armenia's historic settlement in the 19th century, Nor Nakhichevan.

A bus trip from Thessaloniki to Yerevan will permit sightseeing of various areas along the way, including Lake Sevan and the Armenian churches of Haghartsin and Geghard. Also scheduled are visits to Echmiadzin, Zvartnots, Garni, Geghard, and Sardarabad. The tour itinerary includes also three days in Leningrad, three days in Moscow, and one day in London.

Charles S. Sahagian, NAASR Board Secretary, is in the tour chairman and will be accompanied by NAASR tour guides being made by Armen Dedekian of Cambridge.

For those unable to participate in the July tour, there is another opportunity for a similar tour to Armenia offered in September. This is a 16-day tour which will include seven days in Yerevan, three days in Leningrad, and one day in London. For further details, contact the NAASR Headquarters.

Sister City Continued from page 1

activities included a reception at the office of Cambridge Mayor Edward Avakian and at Harvard University, and to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a “Cambridge evening” on Wednesday, August 16, which will be known as Wednesday in Cambridge.

In addition, NAASR Board Chairman Manoog S. Young presented the Cambridge-Yerevan Sister City relationship and shall continue to do so as well as build on our long-standing relationship with Yerevan through the Committee for Cultural Relations with Armenia. The close and growing relationship between the two cities is based on the belief that peace in the Middle East is the key to the peace in the world.

We in the National Association for Armenian Studies and Research are proud to have played a significant role in bringing about the Cambridge-Yerevan Sister City relationship and shall continue to do as well as build on our long-standing relationship with Yerevan through the Committee for Cultural Relations with Armenia.

In the early part of this century, when we formulate the program of Yerevan which has risen from the ashes of the Genocide and from the destruction of World War II as a city of over 10,000,000 inhabitants, which has grown from an ancient city to a modern city and now to a cultural center for the world.

Indeed, Cambridge and Yerevan have a joint mission to bring everlasting peace to the world, to preserve and protect our ancient and vital cultures, and to continue to contribute to progress, enrichment, and elevation of mankind in a world which will remain uncertain for the foreseeable future.

The week's visit ended with the signing of a protocol by the two mayors declaring the intent to enter into a long-term relationship. Negotiations were conducted and an exchange of letters was signed and presented in the framework for subsequent exchanges. Sister city relationships are designed to establish mutual understanding of the people of different nations and to promote a world peace by providing cultural and educational exchanges between artists, scholars, professionals, and ordinary citizens.

With its national headquarters in Cambridge, Massachusetts, NAASR has successfully managed to promote the concept of a sister city relationship with Yerevan, and the Mayor of Cambridge, Charles S. Sahagian, on behalf of the Cambridge-Yerevan Sister City Advisory Association, Board, and Board of Trustees, on behalf of the Sister City Board of Directors.

Volunteer Program Continues

NAASR's members and friends continue to assist on a volunteer basis with various activities. They have contributed to the promotion of the activities of the board and to its fundraising efforts. As at the national headquarters or at off-site locations. Volunteer services recently were:

- Paul Jurgin, Waltham; Mary Ann Kanjianan, Belmont; Mark Sahagian, Needham; and Mae Takoushian, Waltham.

There is an ongoing need for volunteer help in the areas of headquarters, the board, the National Association for Armenian Studies and Research, and the preface to the book, which seems to provide a comprehensive and accurate account of the account would never be ignored. Both Presidents Carter and Reagan have spoken to this issue, and the holocaust tragedy should not be forgotten, when we formulate U.S. human rights policy. - Danni P. Raas, Congressman from Florida and Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

I appreciate having a copy of this book and the testimony of a witness to the horrible events which occurred in the warring years of the Ottoman Empire. This book will be kept in our files, and the important testifies to the importance of the Armenian genocide.

Copies of the book were also sent to the foreign and United Nations officials, as well as the Secretary of State George Shultz and Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, the publishers before Beacon Press.

Letters from Congressmen acknowledging receipt of the book have been arriving at Cambridge. Congressmen with whom we have been in contact are Senators and Congressmen from a total of 30 states. Some of the names of those Congressmen are: Senator Edward M. Kennedy, Senator Hubert, Senator Hanna, and Senator John Danforth.

"A first-hand account of the destruction of the Armenian population of Turkey has certainly left us with the same horrid records. I look forward to having a chance to review this book in further detail." - Robert K. Dole, Congressman from California.

"I hope you will have a chance to read this book, and the holocaust tragedy should not be forgotten, when we formulate U.S. human rights policy. - Danni P. Raas, Congressman from Florida and Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

I appreciate having a copy of this book and the testimony of a witness to the horrible events which occurred in the warring years of the Ottoman Empire. This book will be kept in our files, and the important testifies to the importance of the Armenian genocide.

Copies of the book were also sent to the foreign and United Nations officials, as well as the Secretary of State George Shultz and Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, the publishers before Beacon Press.

Letters from Congressmen acknowledging receipt of the book have been arriving at Cambridge. Congressmen with whom we have been in contact are Senators and Congressmen from a total of 30 states. Some of the names of those Congressmen are: Senator Edward M. Kennedy, Senator Hubert, Senator Hanna, and Senator John Danforth.

"A first-hand account of the destruction of the Armenian population of Turkey has certainly left us with the same horrid records. I look forward to having a chance to review this book in further detail." - Robert K. Dole, Congressman from California.

"I hope you will have a chance to read this book, and the holocaust tragedy should not be forgotten, when we formulate U.S. human rights policy. - Danni P. Raas, Congressman from Florida and Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

I appreciate having a copy of this book and the testimony of a witness to the horrible events which occurred in the warring years of the Ottoman Empire. This book will be kept in our files, and the important testifies to the importance of the Armenian genocide.

Copies of the book were also sent to the foreign and United Nations officials, as well as the Secretary of State George Shultz and Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, the publishers before Beacon Press.

Letters from Congressmen acknowledging receipt of the book have been arriving at Cambridge. Congressmen with whom we have been in contact are Senators and Congressmen from a total of 30 states. Some of the names of those Congressmen are: Senator Edward M. Kennedy, Senator Hubert, Senator Hanna, and Senator John Danforth.

"A first-hand account of the destruction of the Armenian population of Turkey has certainly left us with the same horrid records. I look forward to having a chance to review this book in further detail." - Robert K. Dole, Congressman from California.

"I hope you will have a chance to read this book, and the holocaust tragedy should not be forgotten, when we formulate U.S. human rights policy. - Danni P. Raas, Congressman from Florida and Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

I appreciate having a copy of this book and the testimony of a witness to the horrible events which occurred in the warring years of the Ottoman Empire. This book will be kept in our files, and the important testifies to the importance of the Armenian genocide.

Copies of the book were also sent to the foreign and United Nations officials, as well as the Secretary of State George Shultz and Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger, the publishers before Beacon Press.

Letters from Congressmen acknowledging receipt of the book have been arriving at Cambridge. Congressmen with whom we have been in contact are Senators and Congressmen from a total of 30 states. Some of the names of those Congressmen are: Senator Edward M. Kennedy, Senator Hubert, Senator Hanna, and Senator John Danforth.

"A first-hand account of the destruction of the Armenian population of Turkey has certainly left us with the same horrid records. I look forward to having a chance to review this book in further detail." - Robert K. Dole, Congressman from California.

"I hope you will have a chance to read this book, and the holocaust tragedy should not be forgotten, when we formulate U.S. human rights policy. - Danni P. Raas, Congressman from Florida and Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

I appreciate having a copy of this book and the testimony of a witness to the horrible events which occurred in the warring years of the Ottoman Empire. This book will be kept in our files, and the important testifies to the importance of the Armenian genocide.
Lucy Gulezian: Physician, Humanitarian, and Activist

Dr. Lucy Gulezian

Dr. Lucy Gulezian was quoted in Armenian newspapers, stating that 500,000 children in Armenia "are depending on us for their lives." The Gulezian papers donated to NAASR include newspaper clippings in both English and Armenian, minutes of organizational meetings, lists of supplies and medicines delivered, and correspondence. For example, the archive contains copies of telegrams sent in 1921 on behalf of the Armenian National Red Cross, which was doing its best to help Armenian refugees. The papers include a letter sent to the American Red Cross, supplying information on the conditions of Armenian refugees and the need for relief. Dr. Gulezian was also on the executive board of the Armenian National Red Cross and the Armenian Student National Committee, and she gave lectures and helped develop the Armenian American Committee.

Recent Donations to NAASR Library

Armenian Studies Programs

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS, BOSTON. During the 1987-1988 academic year, the Armenian Center received a grant from the Armenian Student National Committee to support the Armenian Summer Program for Independent Study. The Second Armenian Studies Program at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, received an additional $5,000 grant from the Armenian Student National Committee. In 1989, the Armenian Summer Program for Independent Study received a grant of $13,000 from the Armenian Student National Committee.

COLUMBIA. A new course, Introduction to Armenian Civilization, will be offered in spring 1988, and an additional course, Armenian Literature and Language, will be offered in the fall of 1988. A new course, Introduction to Armenian History and Civilization, will be offered in spring 1989.

ALSO IN THE FALL. Prof. Garsoian will offer a new course, Introductions to the Study of Armenian History and Civilization, which deals with the history of Armenia in the Cilician period, as well as a History Seminar in Armenian Studies. Prof. Cowe will offer language courses in elementary and intermediate, and advanced Modern Western Armenian.

Dr. Gulezian

Continued from page 4

Freeze the Cascade

Continued on page 5

Rockefeller Foundation Funds Conference

New Theory of Indo-European Origins

A week-long conference dealing with new directions relating to Indo-European history will take place at the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988. The conference is being organized by Dr. Garsoian, on temporary assignment to the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988.

The conference is being organized by Dr. Garsoian, on temporary assignment to the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988.

Dr. Gulezian

Continued from page 4

Freeze the Cascade

Continued on page 5

Rockefeller Foundation Funds Conference

New Theory of Indo-European Origins

A week-long conference dealing with new directions relating to Indo-European history will take place at the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988. The conference is being organized by Dr. Garsoian, on temporary assignment to the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988.

The conference is being organized by Dr. Garsoian, on temporary assignment to the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988.

Dr. Gulezian

Continued from page 4

Freeze the Cascade

Continued on page 5

Rockefeller Foundation Funds Conference

New Theory of Indo-European Origins

A week-long conference dealing with new directions relating to Indo-European history will take place at the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988. The conference is being organized by Dr. Garsoian, on temporary assignment to the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988.

The conference is being organized by Dr. Garsoian, on temporary assignment to the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988.

Dr. Gulezian

Continued from page 4

Freeze the Cascade

Continued on page 5

Rockefeller Foundation Funds Conference

New Theory of Indo-European Origins

A week-long conference dealing with new directions relating to Indo-European history will take place at the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988. The conference is being organized by Dr. Garsoian, on temporary assignment to the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988.

The conference is being organized by Dr. Garsoian, on temporary assignment to the Rockefeller Foundation Center in Bellagio, Italy, on October 4-18, 1988.
Book Reception

Continued from page 3

sity, who came from New York for the reception. The newly published book was welcomed as a refresher article written in 1918 by the late Henry Memiyan, who served as ambassador to Turkey during World War I, in which the Young Turks’ plan to an­ nulate Armenian identity and culture was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by describing briefly NAASR’s public affairs programs as one of many activities that have grown out of NAASR’s mission to promote Armenian studies in institutions of higher learning.

The first special evening of NAASR was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by delivering a lecture titled “The Armenian Genocide: A Multi-Faceted Association.” NAASR Board Member Manoog S. Yeghiayan, who served as President, presented the lecture on the history of the Armenian Genocide. Mr. Yeghiayan delivered the lecture, which held the attention of the audience with his vivid presentation.

A recent history of the Armenian Genocide was presented by Dr. Gregory H. Adamian, who is a former NAASR Board Member and a leading expert on Armenian studies. His presentation covered the history of the mass killings and the subsequent effects on the Armenian population.

Dr. Adamian gave a detailed account of the Armenian Genocide, which included the tragic events that occurred during the World War I and the subsequent establishment of the Republic of Armenia.

He discussed the role of NAASR in promoting Armenian studies and its mission to educate the public about the Armenian Genocide.

Book Reception

Continued from page 3

sity, who came from New York for the reception. The newly published book was welcomed as a refresher article written in 1918 by the late Henry Memiyan, who served as ambassador to Turkey during World War I, in which the Young Turks’ plan to an­ nulate Armenian identity and culture was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by describing briefly NAASR’s public affairs programs as one of many activities that have grown out of NAASR’s mission to promote Armenian studies in institutions of higher learning.

The first special evening of NAASR was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by delivering a lecture titled “The Armenian Genocide: A Multi-Faceted Association.” NAASR Board Member Manoog S. Yeghiayan, who served as President, presented the lecture on the history of the Armenian Genocide. Mr. Yeghiayan delivered the lecture, which held the attention of the audience with his vivid presentation.

A recent history of the Armenian Genocide was presented by Dr. Gregory H. Adamian, who is a former NAASR Board Member and a leading expert on Armenian studies. His presentation covered the history of the mass killings and the subsequent effects on the Armenian population.

He discussed the role of NAASR in promoting Armenian studies and its mission to educate the public about the Armenian Genocide.

Book Reception

Continued from page 3

sity, who came from New York for the reception. The newly published book was welcomed as a refresher article written in 1918 by the late Henry Memiyan, who served as ambassador to Turkey during World War I, in which the Young Turks’ plan to an­ nulate Armenian identity and culture was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by describing briefly NAASR’s public affairs programs as one of many activities that have grown out of NAASR’s mission to promote Armenian studies in institutions of higher learning.

The first special evening of NAASR was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by delivering a lecture titled “The Armenian Genocide: A Multi-Faceted Association.” NAASR Board Member Manoog S. Yeghiayan, who served as President, presented the lecture on the history of the Armenian Genocide. Mr. Yeghiayan delivered the lecture, which held the attention of the audience with his vivid presentation.

A recent history of the Armenian Genocide was presented by Dr. Gregory H. Adamian, who is a former NAASR Board Member and a leading expert on Armenian studies. His presentation covered the history of the mass killings and the subsequent effects on the Armenian population.

He discussed the role of NAASR in promoting Armenian studies and its mission to educate the public about the Armenian Genocide.

Book Reception

Continued from page 3

sity, who came from New York for the reception. The newly published book was welcomed as a refresher article written in 1918 by the late Henry Memiyan, who served as ambassador to Turkey during World War I, in which the Young Turks’ plan to an­ nulate Armenian identity and culture was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by describing briefly NAASR’s public affairs programs as one of many activities that have grown out of NAASR’s mission to promote Armenian studies in institutions of higher learning.

The first special evening of NAASR was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by delivering a lecture titled “The Armenian Genocide: A Multi-Faceted Association.” NAASR Board Member Manoog S. Yeghiayan, who served as President, presented the lecture on the history of the Armenian Genocide. Mr. Yeghiayan delivered the lecture, which held the attention of the audience with his vivid presentation.

A recent history of the Armenian Genocide was presented by Dr. Gregory H. Adamian, who is a former NAASR Board Member and a leading expert on Armenian studies. His presentation covered the history of the mass killings and the subsequent effects on the Armenian population.

He discussed the role of NAASR in promoting Armenian studies and its mission to educate the public about the Armenian Genocide.

Book Reception

Continued from page 3

sity, who came from New York for the reception. The newly published book was welcomed as a refresher article written in 1918 by the late Henry Memiyan, who served as ambassador to Turkey during World War I, in which the Young Turks’ plan to an­ nulate Armenian identity and culture was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by describing briefly NAASR’s public affairs programs as one of many activities that have grown out of NAASR’s mission to promote Armenian studies in institutions of higher learning.

The first special evening of NAASR was held at the St. James Armenian Church Hall in Watertown by delivering a lecture titled “The Armenian Genocide: A Multi-Faceted Association.” NAASR Board Member Manoog S. Yeghiayan, who served as President, presented the lecture on the history of the Armenian Genocide. Mr. Yeghiayan delivered the lecture, which held the attention of the audience with his vivid presentation.

A recent history of the Armenian Genocide was presented by Dr. Gregory H. Adamian, who is a former NAASR Board Member and a leading expert on Armenian studies. His presentation covered the history of the mass killings and the subsequent effects on the Armenian population.

He discussed the role of NAASR in promoting Armenian studies and its mission to educate the public about the Armenian Genocide.
Recent and Selected Titles of Note

A sampling of some recent and noteworthy additions to NAASR's Armenian Book Clearing House holdings appears below. Figures in parentheses represent reduced prices for NAASR members in good standing. Lists of other titles are in the process of preparation. Postage is paid by NAASR on all prepaid orders. Special discounts are available for libraries and booksellers.

The Armenian Genocide, compiled and edited by Lihard Azadian and Armen Donoyan [Navasart, Glendale]. A collection of basic documents on the Armenian Genocide, including U.S. State Department papers, the memoirs of Naim Bey, statements by political leaders and intellectuals, and eyewitness accounts. H297p. $10 ($9).

Armenian in Arabic were added later. L68.

pared in the sixth century, and additional entries are in the process of preparation. Postage is paid by NAASR on all prepaid orders. Special discounts are available for libraries and booksellers.

Bark Gallianos: The Greek-Armenian Dictionary to Galen, edited by John A. C. Gregpin [Caravan Books, Delmar, N.Y.]. A collection of Greek pharmaceutical terms, both plant and animal, used by Galen, the physician of the second century. The Armenian manuscript is believed to have been originally prepared in the sixth century, and additional entries in Arabic were added later. L68. $50.00 ($45.00).

David Anhaght: The 'Invincible' Philosopher, by Avedis K. Sanjian [Scholars Press, Atlanta]. A collection of papers by scholars analyzing various aspects of the life and thought of David Anhaght, the fifth/sixth century Armenian neoplatonist who is acknowledged as the founder of several branches of Armenian philosophy, particularly logic. Cloth, H300c. $19.95 ($16.95); paper, H300p. $14.95 ($12.95).

Dust to Destiny, by Naomi Topalian [Baikar Publications, Watertown]. The autobiography of the author's mother, a native of Marash, Turkey, who was raised in a German orphanage, escaped the massacres of World War I, built a new life in Lebanon in the interwar period, and spent her last days in the United States. X196. $15 ($13.95).

The Evasive Neutral: Germany, Britain and the Quest for a Turkish Alliance in the Second World War, by Frank G. Weber [University of Missouri Press, Columbia]. A study of Turkey's ambivalent foreign policy during World War II that kept her a non-belligerent until the final days of fighting and maintained her territorial integrity. Based on research in British and German archives. H298. $20 ($18.50).

A History of the Crusades, Kenneth M. Setton, General Editor [University of Wisconsin Press, Madison]. A multi-volume comprehensive study of the crusades, based on the most recent scholarship and sources. Each volume in the series consists of articles written by authorities on the subject, with a listing of important dates and events, gazetteer, and specially-prepared maps. With many entries about Armenians and their relations with the Crusaders.

The story of the highly secret, well-organized campaign that resulted in the assassination of a number of the perpetrators of the Armenian Genocide, including Talaat Pasha in Berlin, Behoud Khan Djivanchir in Constantinople, Said Halim in Rome, and Jemal Pasha in Triëlis, among others. Based on original sources in the United States and Europe. H306p. $13.95 ($12.95).

Search for a Homeland, by Hapog Jack Touryantz [New York]. A native of Cairo, Egypt, the author describes his repatriation to Armenia in 1947, his disillusionment with his new life there, and his subsequent emigration to Lebanon and then to America. An economist by training, Touryantz is critical of the Soviet system as well as the West. X197p. $9.95 ($8.95).

The Unfinal Solution, Focus section of the American Book Review, March-April, 1986, with feature articles on the Armenian Genocide. H304p. $2.00 ($1.75).

Other recent additions to the Book Clearing House inventory include the following:

The Unfinal Solution, Focus section of the American Book Review, March-April, 1986, with feature articles on the Armenian Genocide. H304p. $2.00 ($1.75).

Other recent additions to the Book Clearing House inventory include the following:

NAASR Newsletter
ISSN 0890-3794

National Association for Armenian Studies and Research, Inc.
175 Mt. Auburn Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138
Telephone: (617) 876-7820

Barbara J. Merguerian
Director of Information and Publications