

Announcing a public lecture *
with

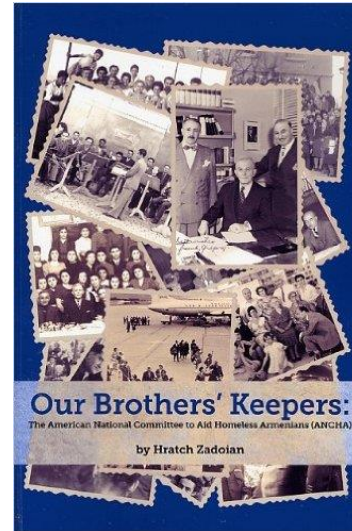

Hratch Zadoian, PhD

of Queens College CUNY on

Armenian migration to the USA: The fascinating saga of ANCHA

The centuries-old Armenian diaspora has weathered many horrors, like today's devastation of Christians in Syria and the Middle East. M. Hratch Zadoian is a noted Professor of Political Science at Queens College, and author of Our Brother's Keepers (2012). Here, Dr. Zadoian shares his fascinating account of how the U.S. government allowed ANCHA (the American Committee to Aid Homeless Armenians) to save the lives of tens of thousands of Armenian refugees fleeing to safety in the USA after 1947.

Moderator: Harold Takooshian, PhD, Fordham

Welcome: Andrew Yenicag, President, Fordham-RH Armenian Society

Discussant (invited): Bryan D. Ardouny, Esq.,
Executive Director, Armenian Assembly of America

17 November 2016, Thursday, 4:30-5:50 pm
Fordham University, 113 West 60 Street (+9 Ave), room 1022

Ψ All are welcome. Beverages are served. Ψ

* This public forum is hosted by the Fordham University Armenian Society, in cooperation with AAA (Armenian Assembly of America), NAASR (National Assoc for Armenian Studies & Research), and ABSA (Armenian Behavioral Science Assoc). For any details, contact takoosh@aol.com www.stvartanbookstore.com/Our-Brothers-Keepers_p_389.html

