

The Orthodox Christian Studies Center at Fordham University,
The National Association for Armenian Studies and Research,
& The Krikor and Clara Zohrab Information Center

Present

“The Materiality of Armenian Christianity: Gospel Books as Sacred Objects”

by

Konrad Siekierski

Wednesday, January 26, 2022

7:00pm ET

To register visit: <https://bit.ly/NAASRSiekierski>

The program will also be streamed live on NAASR's YouTube Channel,

<https://www.youtube.com/c/ArmenianStudies>

Konrad Siekierski is a PhD candidate in the Department of Theology and Religious Studies, King's College London. Based upon ten years of ethnographic research, his doctoral thesis, A Vow to Go: Religion, Reunion, and Roots in Armenian Pilgrimage, examines the different forms that pilgrimage takes today in the Armenian culture. In 2021, he conducted a research project Gospel Books as Home Saints: Between Vernacular Christianity and Armenian National Heritage, funded by the National Association for Armenian Studies and Research. Currently he is a recipient of The Orthodox Christian Studies NEH Dissertation Completion Fellowship at Fordham University. Konrad edited two collective volumes and authored several articles in academic journals.