“Genocide always casts a long shadow. The greatest challenge for any community that has gone through genocide is to be able to come out of that shadow” – Khatchig Mouradian

Their struggle speaks to the many immigrant communities who have experienced trauma. 100 years ago, Armenians were nearly annihilated by genocide.

Today, often unrecognized, it remains defining. Can Armenian Americans create a new future – honoring their past, while unshackling themselves from its trauma?

Watertown Race Reels Film Series is a project of Watertown Community for Black Lives, a working group of Watertown Citizens for Peace Justice and Environment. Tonight’s event is funded by a grant provided by the Watertown Community Foundation and the WFPL.
