

WE CARE FOR PEOPLE

As a fashion brand, we have the responsibility of protecting human rights and guaranteeing health, safety and equity to the stakeholders in our supply chain, from producers and employees to customers.

1. SUPPLY CHAIN

Our challenge is to create a positive impact and enhance prosperity in our supply chain.

People who make our clothes deserve full respect.

We are committed to building strong and long-lasting relationships with factories which share our goals: to protect human rights and provide gainful and fair jobs to all the workers involved in the production of our products.

2. CODE OF CONDUCT

Save The Duck is taking concrete action to build a fair, free and collaborative supply chain and network economy by adopting a 'Code of Conduct for the Supply Chain', which guides the company choices on responsible sourcing.

The Code of Conduct is part of Save The Duck S.r.l.'s system of rules and procedures and it sets out the minimum social, environmental and ethical requirements for suppliers.

Save The Duck requires all its suppliers to comply with these principles related to environmental sustainability, social sustainability and worker's rights, protection of health and safety in the workplace and compliance with law and business ethics.
