

My antibody is formulated in 50% glycerol. Must I exchange it into your suggested buffer?

The glycerol should not interfere with the conjugation of activated phycobiliprotein to your antibody as long as you are using the standard protocol described in the booklet which accompanies the kit (DTT reduction followed by desalting); make sure there are no other buffer components that might interfere with the DTT reduction.