

BRACING FOR CORONAVIRUS

The world is in an uproar over Coronavirus causing untold sickness and an acute inflammatory response that the virus causes. No one is going to restaurants, theaters, museums, malls or any public gathering. People are emptying the supermarkets and emptying the shelves in fear and anticipation, staying in their homes for an undetermined period of time.

Coronavirus causes inflammatory disease that affects dogs and cats, as well as people. Many of the symptoms affect the respiratory system causing pneumonia (inflammation of the lungs). This disease has affected many species years ago – cats have been affected for decades. Research has referenced that the origin of the outbreak came from live animals.

We have been helping our children from the effects of viruses with (Sulforaphane). SFN comes from broccoli and we use a unique broccoli formula which has been shown to work against inflammation. The sickness and death from all viruses that affect all species, including humans and our pet children is known to be from inflammation of the lungs. Any animal that is subject to flu or pneumonia is suffering from inflammation of the lungs. What we can do is reduce the inflammatory response in the lungs. What we can do is increase a natural immune response with the help of Sulforaphane. This is called preventive medicine — and it is working for us.

Organic Broccoli Sprouts when processed in a unique way preserve live micronutrients. Sulforaphane (SFN) is a natural anti-inflammatory. Numerous studies, to reduce inflammation without suppressing the immune system. In our ongoing clinical studies we are finding amazing results.
