

Guten Tag from Germany!

I've met a little Lingotot in Berlin and have found out that the first Christmas trees were used in Germany in the 1500s.

This lovely tradition of decorating trees at Christmas time was then spread around the world, thanks in part to the German royal family, who told people all about them as they moved around the world.

See if you can join the dots on the picture and reveal a special picture.

Love Elf xx
