I promise I won't attach every outfit to a person—real or fictional—but this one gave me total Jenna Lyons vibes. I've always admired her style but have never considered it for myself, so it was fun to give her trendy-prep look a spin. When Nicole handed me the pieces, I was honestly dreading it—how could this possibly look good together? I wondered. But I felt pretty darn B-O-S-S-Y in the end and vowed to experiment more with layers going forward.
