

Urban Farm Store 2017 Chick Schedule, Announcements and Notes

This year we are pleased to invite you to join us in preserving poultry genetics by choosing an endangered chicken, duck, goose or turkey breed from the Livestock Conservancy's Poultry Conservation Priority List. These breeds are marked with * on the list below.

All of our chicks arrive around 2-3 days old, vaccinated against Marek's disease and are females (pullets) unless otherwise noted. There are usually at least a few (and sometimes lots) of chicks available from previous weeks, so it's helpful to scan forward and back to get an idea of selection around specific dates. Requests for breeds and holds can be made to info@urbanfarmstore.com and we'll try to accommodate. About 5% of chicks will turn out to be roosters and we are happy to offer a store credit for the purchase price (towards the purchase of another bird only) if you get one or more when expecting females. We have arranged a way to donate roosters to a local food bank if you have trouble relocating your rooster, but we are unable to accept in store returns at this time

We are very excited about a unique chick health management system we've developed to optimize our chicks' well being during their stay at our store before heading to your homes. Starting with our first batch of chicks in this Friday, we're now using exclusively organic feeds and scientifically supported natural supplements and environmental enhancements to optimize health, effectively eliminating the need for medicated feed. When combined with our trusty custom drop-through cages and new mini nipple drinkers for chicks, we expect to offer some of the healthiest chicks available anywhere. All of the components are (or will soon be) available for purchase at our store so that you may continue the program at home. Conventional medicated and unmedicated chick starter will continue to be available for those who prefer them. A good start is to add 2 tbs aloe juice (not gel) and small amounts of poultry probiotics to the water.
