

How to care for your
DARK DINNER SHIRT

Your brand new Dinner™ shirt was direct-to-garment (DTG) printed, a process of printing on textiles via ink jet technology that uses specialized printers and inks to print the design directly on to the fibers. This allows the best fidelity for designs that would be too complex using traditional screen printing techniques.

IF YOU'VE ORDERED A DARK SHIRT FROM US, THERE ARE A COUPLE OF THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW:

Dark DTG shirts get an extra layer of printstuff

The DTG process requires a 'pre-treat' layer to be applied to the fabric in order to enable the printing of colors (and white) on a dark garment. You may have noticed a swath of colorless area around the print? That's the pre-treat. It will disappear when washed!

How to care for your dark DTG Dinner shirt:

- Always wash inside out
- Machine wash cold
- Line dry (if you must tumble dry, use no heat or lowest setting possible)

Machine Wash Cold.
Line Dry or Tumble Dry No Heat.
Do Not Iron.
