

TO: THE THEN AND NOW IN ME

She served you. She shaped you. She got you here.

But the version of you right now?

She's golden in new ways.

She glows differently - with softer wisdom, deeper strength, and curves that carry chapters.

Your glow didn't disappear. It just evolved.

You don't have to hate the old you to honour her. And you don't have to chase her to love the now you.

You're not meant to rewind. You're meant to radiate.

In this body.

In this skin.

In this moment.

Don't mourn who you were so much that you miss who you are.

She's here. She's worthy. And she's still becoming.

This glow?

It's not a comeback. It's a continuation.

Every version of you was golden.

This one too.

Wura Ewa

