

120 varieties of coconut. Over a dozen ways to produce coconut oil.
One winning formula. Not all coconut oils are created equal.

The purest, most effective coconut oil on the market:

- High Lauric Acid content – Our coconut oil contains a minimum of 53.28% Lauric Acid content from organic, non-GMO and non-hybrid coconuts, Our coconut oil also contains high percentage of beneficial Medium Chain Fatty Acids (lauric acid, caprylic acid, and capric acid), containing at least 64%.
- Lower moisture content – Although the Philippine Government standards state that maximum moisture cannot be greater than 0.2%, our coconut oil has a moisture content of 0.06% or less, which is considered “excellent” in purity standards. Lower moisture content means more stable oil, and less susceptible to oxidation, bacteria, and the breakdown of triglycerides into free fatty acid and glycerol. Samples of CocoTherapy® Coconut Oil have not shown any signs of rancidity, even after 3 years. It contains the highest levels of antioxidants available.
- Giving CocoTherapy coconut oil to your pets allows you to give less oil, while providing higher levels of beneficial medium-chain fatty acids.

Family-owned USDA Organic Inspected Coconut Farm

We grow and harvest our own coconuts in a family-owned USDA-organic certified coconut plantation. A majority of coconut oil manufacturers (other brands) do not own coconut farms. Instead, they work with private-label manufacturing companies who purchase their coconuts from a number of small independent farmers, often buying from multiple farmers who may or may not be USDA organic inspected farms. These farmers may have their own cultivating practices and harvesting schedules, which affect the quality of the coconuts.

CocoTherapy coconuts come from one farm, which is also owned by our manufacturer. Why is this important?

- The quality of our coconuts is consistent from batch to batch.
- We know our coconuts are harvested at the optimum time (12 months old), no earlier, no later.
- We know our coconuts are opened and used between four to eight hours after harvesting.
- Our farm is guaranteed to be USDA organic inspected, and we never use hybrid or genetically modified (GMO) coconuts.

The Lauric Acid content in virgin coconut oil is highly dependent on the variety of the coconut and the way it was cultivated and harvested.

Quality starts with the coconuts. From the careful selection of the coconuts used, to the methods used in creating the final product, we know that CocoTherapy coconut oil is the purest, freshest, premium quality human-grade oil available.

Family-owned Manufacturing Plant Dedicated Only to Coconuts

Our manufacturing plant makes coconut products only. Our facility never processes or use dairy, fish, peanuts, shellfish, soy, tree nuts, and wheat. These products are considered high-allergen foods which may not be desirable in pet foods or good for highly allergic pets.

Exceeds Industry Standards in Coconut Manufacturing Safety Process

We take extra steps in our manufacturing process to ensure the purest and safest coconut oil for the safety of your pets where every batch undergoes independent laboratory testing. Not only do we follow the strictest standards in coconut oil production, but every batch of coconut oil is assigned a LOT number and batch samples are sent to an independent lab to be tested for pathogens and contaminants before packaging. We then catalogue and keep multiple batch samples of oil produced in our plant for NO LESS than five (5) years and test for rancidity and purity.

CocoTherapy is a USDA-Organic Certified Coconut Oil certified by a Federal National Organic Program (NOP) Certifier, Global Organic Alliance (GOA)

Look for the USDA Organic seal in our coconut oil. This is the only way to ensure that the coconut oil is certified organic by a federal NOP certifier.

The Organic Trade Association (OTA) seal is NOT an indication that the product is USDA-certified organic. The Organic Trade Association (OTA) is the membership-based business association for the organic industry in North America and does not certify products to be organic.

About Us:

Coconut oil has been part of our family for countless years. We remember our grandmother making coconut oil in her kitchen using only the freshest coconuts from our family farm in the Philippines. For generations, this versatile super food has been a diet & first aid staple in our family and our pets. Inspired by our love for our pets, we created CocoTherapy so your pets can experience the tremendous health benefits that we've known for many years.

CocoTherapy is nutritionally optimized to contain the highest levels of beneficial lauric acid, which makes our oil the most effective oil available. Don't settle for less. Thank you for choosing the very best coconut oil for your pets.
