

Time FOR you

Tuck your child up in bed, dim the lights and spend some quality time together this Valentine's Day

Game on!

Just how well do you know your partner? Find out – and have a few laughs along the way – with the bestselling adult board game Monogamy. There are three levels of play: Intimate, Passionate and Steamy, so you can choose whether you fancy a romantic evening together or some rather risqué fun! £24.99, amazon.co.uk

TUNE IN, FLOP OUT

Good news for Breaking Bad fans! The promising prequel Better Call Saul begins in February on Netflix, featuring the hit show's shady lawyer Saul Goodman. While it's unlikely we'll see any cameos from Walter White or Jesse Pinkman, it promises to be just as much of a roller coaster ride as its phenomenally popular predecessor. For more information, visit netflix.com

NEED A SNACK?

The thoughtful folk at Pilgrim's Choice understand it can be difficult to choose cheeses. So to make it easier, they've launched a Pick-N-Mix range of minis in a variety of flavours, including Vintage Cheddar, Fire Cracker, Wensleydale & Cranberry, Indian Spice and Smokey Cheddar. £1.50 each or three for £3, tesco.com

What's for dinner?

If you're keen to spoil your loved one with a gourmet dinner but aren't quite a cordon bleu chef, enlist the help of the Cavendish Cooks of Bath. They've slaved over a hot stove to make a whole range of knockout dishes, including Aubergine Parmigiana, Beef Wellington, and Roasted Leg of Duck with Puy Lentils, using their own home recipes.

Each dish is prepared, frozen and then delivered straight to your door with instructions on how to cook it, for fuss-free fine dining. Main dishes start from £4.20, sides from £1.95 and desserts are £2.85 (minimum order £35), cavendishcooks.co.uk

Wine o'clock

Drop a few not-so-subtle hints to your other half to splash out on a celebratory bottle of Moët and Chandon Rosé Imperial Champagne. After all, what says romance better than bubbly? £39.50, 31dover.com

Bring the spa to you

When your skin needs a little extra TLC, pamper yourself with a jar of Pommade Divine. Invented in 1800, this natural skin balm excels at helping repair and deeply nourish dry, damaged skin in an instant. We love it for our hands and apparently so does glam mum Sienna Miller! £19.80, pommadedivine.com

Indulgent eats

No one really likes sharing, especially when it comes to dessert. Thankfully, Pots & Co Salted Caramel & Chocolate Pots come in individual serving portions, so you won't have a fight over who gets to eat the last bite. Warning: these handmade puddings are incredibly addictive... £2.05, ocado.com

Book the babysitter!

Get your heart fluttering with a Valentine's Day trip to the races. To celebrate 50 years of jumps racing at Ascot, the prestigious track is offering free tickets for couples to attend Ascot Chase Raceday. If you want to make the outing extra special, there's an exclusive Valentine's Couple Package that includes two Premier Admission tickets and a complimentary glass of prosecco on arrival for £20. To book, call 0844 346 3000 or visit ascot.co.uk

Get lost in a good book

The Little Book of Love by Tiddy Rowan is packed with inspiring quotes and romantic ideas, ensuring you'll be feeling starry-eyed on 14 February. £5.99, Quadrille.

Age, Sex, Location by Melissa Pimentel is a hilarious and refreshingly honest dating romp, which will make you chuckle and cringe in equal measure. £7.99, Penguin.