

And It Was So

(Genesis 1:1-2:3)

First God said, "Let there be light." The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
And He made the day and night. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
He split the waters from low to high. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
And He made the bright blue sky. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.

The land and the seas, God, He made.
The flowers and the trees, God, he made.
And all the plants you see, God, He made.
Everything natural, God, He made.

He made the sun to shine by day. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
He made the stars in the Milky Way. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
He made the moon to rule the night. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
Night and day each have their light. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.

The fishes in the sea, God, He made.
The birds and the bees, God, He made.
And Adam and Eve, God, He made.
Everything natural, God He made.

All God made was very good. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
Paradise was filled with food. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
God was pleased with all He made. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
And He rested on the seventh day. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.

The fishes in the sea, God, He made.
The birds and the bees, God, He made.
And Adam and Eve, God, He made.
Everything natural, God He made.

God was pleased with all He made. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
And He rested on the seventh day. The Lord, He spoke and it was so.
The Lord, He spoke and it was so.

This is how God said the world was made. Oh, yeah!
