BASE AND MIDLAYERS Keep warm, stay happy BY JOE JACKSON

Nørnna Roldal Warm1 shirt $119
A stylish collared fleece? Believe it. Nørnna gave the Roldal an athletic cut and some groovy upgrades like clear snap buttons and a brushed exterior. It doesn't breathe fantastically, but it's ideal for everything from riding chairlifts to après-ski beers and burgers. Nice: the massive, zippered chest pocket easily swallows a smartphone or energy bar. norrna.com

Under Armour ClutchFit Compression leggings $80
With most compression tights, the added muscle support comes with a price: you get clammy. The ClutchFit avoids this downside by employing hourglass-shaped swaths of breathable (and super stretchy) spandex between patches of more restrictive material, plus supportive mesh along the undercarriage. Terramar 3.0 Ecolator CS Full Zip hoodie $65
Constructed from plush, lofted squares of fleece, the Ecolator is the warmest piece here when worn under a shell, but thinner material between the squares allows the hoodie to breathe efficiently when used as an outer layer. Note: it's a bit tough to squeeze under a slim-cut jacket. terramarsports.com
