Sasha Finds: The Ultimate Face Mask

I have been on the hunt for an amazing night mask for a while now which, I have to say, is off brand for me because I hate having sh-t on me when I'm sleeping – a lip mask can legit throw me off my sleep game. So I was looking for something rich but not heavy.

When I tested out LXMI's Pure Nilotica Melt, I freaked the f-ck out. This stuff is truly something! If you're not familiar with Nilotica, it's a rare type of nut harvested from 20-year-old trees that line the Nile River. The oil is then extracted from the nut and what you end up with is this amazing natural product that nourishes your skin without stripping it of its natural oils; instead it supposedly adds essential fatty acids, Vitamin A and allantoin, an enzyme which promotes healthy cell development.

All you need to do is slap the product all over your face before bed. A little goes a long way, but I still go HAM with it – spreading it all over my face, my neck, and anywhere else that feels dry. Go to bed and ta-dow! you'll wake up the next morning with your face feeling hydrated, nourished, and glowing.

There is truly so much to love about this superfood skin mask, but what I have to say I love the most is the price. I got my tube from Detox Market and it's only 41 bucks, which is a goddamn steal for significantly better skin.
