Disclaimers

The following guidelines should be observed when using device supplied by InFitness Equipment or one of its supply partners:

- Carefully read all instructions before using any equipment supplied by InFitness Equipment. This gear should only be used in accordance with proper use instructions in this document and per your physical therapist. Purchase and use of this product constitutes your understanding of and agreement to abide by the information contained herein.
- User assumes all risk associated with and full responsibility for the proper use of all equipment and gear sold by InFitness Equipment.
- Before using any fitness equipment, consult with your physician to determine which exercises or exercise program are right for you.
- As with any fitness or therapy program, muscle soreness may be experienced over the first few days following exercise. If your pain should persist for more than four days, consult your physician. Do not exercise while experiencing pain.
- Always wear suitable eye protection when using any resistance band product.
- Young or inexperienced individuals should use this equipment only with appropriate supervision.
- Only use this equipment for its intended purpose. Our exercise equipment and should be respected and used with caution like any other exercise devices.
- With standing exercises, your body alignment is critical. Square your shoulders contract your abdominals and relax your knees. Be sure to practice the safest posture possible by maintaining the natural spinal curve.
- Before each use, inspect all wall bar equipment for structural issues such as cracks or looseness, and check the mounting to the wall. Should any discrepancies be found, do not use the equipment and take steps to repair the unit as necessary to put it back in serviceable condition.
- Before use of resistance gear, inspect all resistance bands, nylon straps and Anazao Fitness Gear for cracks, tears, frays or other damage. When using Bodylastics bands (recommended), or other bands with carabineers, make sure the carabineer is properly connected and latched. Give a tug on the end of the band to assure it is secure. Check the bands and nylon straps to assure there are no nicks, cuts, frays or breaks in the metal. Assure the spring on the carabineer is working properly and that there are no fractures in the metal. If the "spring" in the carabineer does not work properly, do not use the band. We do not recommend using bands that use "swivel" type carabineers or carabineers or latches that are made of plastic or nylon.
- DO NOT use equipment where the integrity of the item appears compromised. We are not responsible for accidents resulting from improper care and/or use of equipment or resistance band gear. Replace as necessary.
- When using "Flat Bands" (like Thera-Bands®) with the Anazao Gear with 2 rings, take caution to not allow the bands to come in contact with any sharp objects, including long fingernails, rings, watches or jewelry that can cause a puncture or tear in the band. When threading the bands through the 2 rings, make sure you leave at least 3" of material on either side. Tug on the band to assure it is properly attached and to assure there is no slippage. Do not use bands with powder coating.
