Creators and makers of handmade porcelain tableware and lighting

Founded 25 years ago by Shelley Simpson, Mud Australia is a Sydney-based design company offering an entirely handmade range of porcelain tableware and lighting.

The Mud Australia collection comprises 80 shapes celebrated for their organic minimal form and artisan finish, including plates, bowls, bakeware, platters, vases, jugs, teaware, pendant lighting and candles. Each piece is available in a range of sizes and 19 colours, from soft pastels to dusty neutrals and vibrant high-pigment tones. This variety allows Mud Australia's porcelain to happily fit into any interior, providing a timeless and durable alternative to mass produced ceramic design.

Each piece is entirely handmade in Mud Australia's Marrickville studio using a slip-cast process and the best materials available, including Limoges porcelain clay and high quality pigment and glaze. The design and production processes combine to ensure each piece is unique, functional and well-made to last. Mud Australia porcelain is oven, microwave, dishwasher and food safe, making it ideal for domestic and commercial use at the table and in the kitchen.

As a small craft-based business, Mud Australia believes in the global values of handcraft, sustainability, collaboration and community, and actively builds relationships with the people who buy, use and love our product. Follow us or get in touch to discover more.

adding additional solar, being certified as Carbon Neutral & Climate Active (formerly the National Carbon Offset Standard (NCOS)—the only Australian Government endorsed carbon neutral certification). We will be sharing our journey to become carbon neutral in the spirit of transparency and opening a dialogue around sustainability.

Sustainability and a liveable planet are increasingly a main concern for Mud Australia. We want to keep making our porcelain so our challenge is to do it in a way that doesn't harm our planet. To this end we've made an internal commitment to be carbon neutral by 2021. We'll do this by undertaking a forensic audit of our energy usage, materials and processes across our business with the aim of changing our processes,

Process and care

Colour is tinted through the porcelain clay to provide a colour depth not available from surface glazing. Clear glaze is then applied to the interior of each piece leaving the exterior with a vitrified stone-like surface that becomes smooth with handling.

Mud Australia porcelain is oven, microwave, dishwasher and food safe, making it ideal for domestic and commercial use at the table and in the kitchen.

Please note

Mud Australia porcelain is a handmade product and should be treated with care during use. In the dishwasher, make sure items are not touching. To avoid scratches on the glaze ideally your porcelain will either be stored in plate racks or use linen /felt between each item.

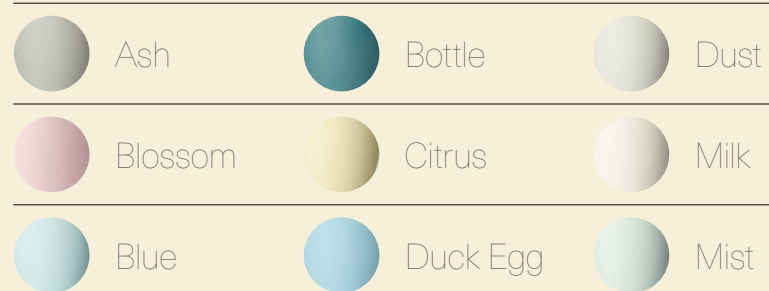

Sudden changes in temperature (eg. from freezer to oven / from oven to cold bench) is likely to cause thermal shock, which will damage your porcelain. Always put cold items onto wire racking when placing in a hot oven. Always place very hot items onto either wood or cloth.

Slight irregularities in size, glaze and texture reflect the handmade nature of the product and should be embraced.
