

I Love You More Than Treats Tutorial by Jane Savage

Jane LDRScreative.com janesav101.blogspot.co.uk/ L·D·R·S creative

Firstly, I stamped the images I needed from the adorable stamp and die set PUPPY TIME (I'm totally in love with this set as I'm a bit dog mad) using the RAVEN HYBRID INK PAD.

To make the card base I cut one of the larger dies from the JUBILEE MAGICAL SLIDER SET, and as the die embosses a crease line in the center it was very easy to fold in half.

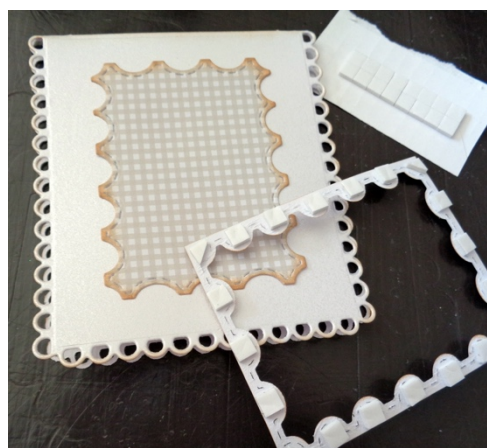

Jane LDRScreative.com janesav101.blogspot.co.uk/ L·D·R·S creative

Jane LDRScreative.com janesav101.blogspot.co.uk/ L·D·R·S creative

I then took one of the stunning papers from the TLC COTTON CANDY PAPER PACK, and after trimming it to a size that would leave me a narrow border I cut one of the frames from the JUBILEE MAGICAL SLIDER SET giving me with an 'inner' and 'outer' piece. I also cut the stamped sentiment from the smaller matching die.

I colored my images with alcohol markers and cut them out using the coordinating dies (this makes things so easy). I then inked all my edges; I'm addicted to doing this.

I added foam squares to the back of the outer frame (I won't bore you with how long it took me to get the backs off!!) and after adhering the inner frame flat to my card blank I stuck my raised frame over that.

I arranged my images as I wanted them and stuck down with some more foam pads, and then finished off by adding a couple of gems and a scribbly doodle border.

And that was it, all done; a teeny tiny card just to say I love you (well more than treats anyway). Now just to find an envelope to fit it!!!